

Petitions by 3,536 seek relief from high sewer rates

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Governor James Thompson has been sent petitions bearing 3,536 signatures of local residents asking him to investigate the recent increase in treatment charges to users of the new Four Township sanitary sewers through Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice townships.

The petitions were sent to the governor along with a six page letter explaining the history of the sewer project and expressing the frustration of the authors over tax and rate increases imposed on them without their permission. The letter is signed by Mary Ray, Marian Winkle and Ann Raub, all residents of Breckenridge

Lane in Pontoon Beach and participants in "a grassroots drive" to have the sewer rate increases rolled back.

In the letter, the authors told the governor that the 3,536 signatures they have collected on the petition would have been more than enough to keep the sewer project from being constructed, if they had been given an opportunity to sign before the bonds were sold in 1976 to finance the local share of the construction cost of the sewers.

It notes that through a "back door referendum," the county board was able to get the bond issue approved, without taking the issue to the voters.

Property owners were told in May, 1976, that $5 million worth of general obligation bonds would be issued unless objection petitions bearing the signatures of 51 percent of the property owners and 51 percent of the registered voters residing in of the special sewer district were received by the deadline of June 21, 1976.

Opponents of the sewer district and the taxes it would impose were told that they would have to obtain 1,543 signatures in each class by the deadline. They succeeded in obtaining opposition signatures from 2,075 property owners and 1,724 registered voters and were told by the county clerk that the bond issue had been defeated, the letter informs the governor.

However, two weeks later, it was announced that the drive fell short of the required 51 percent, since there were approximately 6,500 "users" in the sewer district and 3,251 opposition signatures would have been required to defeat the bond issue.

The letter notes that the 3,536 signatures collected in the last few weeks in opposition to the sewer maintenance and treatment rates would have been more than enough to defeat the whole sewer program, if they had been obtained in 1976. "It is obvious that the signatures presented represent more than 51 percent. It should be interesting to see how they try to get around this one," the letter says.

The letter notes that the organizers of the opposition have received hundreds of telephone calls and contends, "Based on the current response of the people and their viewpoints, as expressed on the phone, it appears fair to assume that had the issue been put to the vote in 1976, it would have been defeated."

It contends that the voters of the district "were hornsvoeggled," and states, "Their right to vote had been discarded by the county board and, despite the fact that the terms of the referendum were met, based on the figure provided by the county itself, initially, the results of the referendums were discarded also."

The authors said many of the residents of the district have said they feel the county has failed to live up to its promises that the tax rate on the sewers would decrease each year as the indebteness on the bonds decreased. It contends that the indebtedness could be retired in 15 years at the current rate of taxation, but many believe the taxation will continue for the full 30 years until the bonds mature.

It states that many property owners in the district have refused to tap their home sewers into the new county sewers, due to the high charges for sewer maintenance and treatment. Only approximately 35 percent of the homes are now on the sewers, even though service has been available for nearly six months.

Many residents were led to believe that there would be a minimum charge

Madison to vote on home rule; will drop tax

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

Two major items that will affect Madison city residents were announced at the Tuesday night council meeting. The council approved an ordinance to the proposal of making Madison a home rule city on the Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1981, ballot.

At the same meeting the city council was informed by Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk that the city will eliminate all property taxes within two years.

The mayor said that between 50 and 60 percent of the property tax should be eliminated in 1982 and the remaining 40 percent in 1983.

The mayor said, "We are all concerned about taxes and our city council enacted the five percent utility tax to create an income that is fair to all. "This utility tax in two years will eliminate the city property tax. It will not eliminate the school tax, county or township taxes.

"We have had over the past 10 years a very conservative city council. We have a lot of senior citizens on fixed incomes, and we have been doing our best to keep costs down.

"The assessed valuation in our city has dropped from $23 million to $9 million.

"We have hard-working city employees who are not getting raises, which they deserve. That is really unfair to our employees. They are good employees and their costs are going up just like ours.

"We won't be able to reduce city property taxes this year as we are paying off tax anticipation warrants.

"When we decided on the utility tax it was our feeling that this would be fair to everyone. People who live in apartments will now pay their fair share of taxes, and the property owners are not going to be stuck with the entire bill.

"We have been able to maintain good city services and we hope to continue offering services to our residents that in other cities the people pay extra to receive.

"It seems about 95 percent of the cities in the nation are facing the same type of financial problems. The right answers are really the $64 dollar question," Sasyk said.

One citizen alleged that the Illinois Power Company was charging the 5.44 percent not just on the bill but also on the state tax.

The question was raised by another citizen about a 20 percent increase in the Illinois Power bill.

Mayor Sasyk said that he would look into the alleged "tax on tax," and the Southwestern Conference of Mayors would be checking into the 20 percent raise.

Carl Mathias, service area manager for city services and we hope to continue offering services to our residents that in other cities the people pay extra to receive.

"About two years ago we did program our computers wrong and this happened, but it was corrected and refunds made. I do not think this is happening now," Mathias said.

In regard to the 20 percent increase Mathias commented, "Our raises in rates over the past several years have not kept up with inflation. The Illinois Commerce Commission regulates what we can charge. Our rate is among the lowest in the entire state of Illinois."

In explaining the home rule plan, Mayor Sasyk said, "We have been studying home rule for some time. It will enable the city to obtain bonds easier for the cable TV system and the related emergency systems, which we feel will bring in revenue and provide a real service to our citizens.

"We will be appointing citizen's committees, representing all areas of

GC man is charged in bank holdup

Federal, St. Louis and Granite City authorities arrested Steven Pence, 30, of 1924a Edison Ave., at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday at his apartment and have charged him with bank robbery.

According to Detective Sgt. Ron Adler of the St. Louis Police, the arrest of Pence has cleared two bank robberies and one attempted bank robbery in St. Louis. "We have closed the books on three cases," he said. The FBI said Pence is charged only with the July 2 robbery and the other two cases are "under investigation."

Four St. Louis detectives, a Granite City policeman and several Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) agents made the arrest without incident at Pence's apartment. He was brought outside handcuffed before several startled persons around Bill Burns Cafeteria for breakfast.

Pence was put into a car and was taken to the federal marshal's office in East St. Louis for an initial appearance on one charge of bank robbery. His bond was recommended at $50,000.

Pence is officially charged with robbing Mercantile Trust Co. at Eight and Locust streets in downtown St. Louis July 2. A bank camera took a picture of him which was published in a St. Louis newspaper and was "very instrumental" in helping investigators match his picture with "mug shots" of Pence that Granite City police had on file, according to a spokesman for the FBI.

In addition to the July 2 robbery, Pence is a suspect in a July 29 robbery of the same bank and in a July 2 attempted bank robbery at the Cass Bank, 925 Olive St., St. Louis.

According to Sgt. Adler, "He was identified in both Mercantile robberies and is a suspect in the Cass attempt. In all three cases, a robbery note was given to a teller. In the Cass Bank case, the teller simply turned and walked away and the robber fled. She did not get a good look at him, Adler said.

In one of the Mercantile robberies, the note indicated that the robber had a

No prosecution for gambling if it is for charitable purposes—Weber

In nearly every county and every town in the United States, gambling of some form or forms is accepted and common. It is difficult to find a tavern which will not be conducting a football pool and many are now conducting 13-run baseball pools.

The question of how tightly local governments should "crack down" on illegal gambling is one that springs up each time there is a gambling arrest, and developments this week indicate that some forms of gambling may soon be operating unhampered in charitable clubs.

Monday night, Granite City police entered the Disabled American Veterans Club downtown, arrested two club employees and confiscated two electronic slot machines. Witnesses alleged the machines were used for gambling and hundreds of dollars had been lost by one man over a period of months.

The club was ordered closed for the night and a report on the arrests and the incident was sent to Mayor Paul Schuler, who is the city's liquor license commissioner.

After studying the case Tuesday, Schuler said he does not anticipate taking any action against the DAV liquor license, in light of a recent opinion issued by Madison County State's Attorney Don Weber, which indicates there should be no enforcement of most gambling laws at organizations such as the DAV, if a portion of the proceeds is going to charitable causes.

Citing the opinion by Weber, Schuler said, "I think that under the Four more Granite City employees will be laid off at the end of the working day tomorrow as the city attempts to reduce its expenditures and bring them in line with anticipated income this fiscal year.

The city council decided Tuesday night to lay off four employees at the sewage treatment plant, since the union representing that plant's workers had failed to come up with concessions which would have enabled the employees to be retained by reducing the payroll in other ways.

The four layoffs, which are likely to be challenged by the union representing those men, brings to 34 the list of city employees who have been taken off payroll since the budget hassles began last month. Many of the reductions have been achieved through early retirements, particularly in the fire department, where four shift commanders have submitted their resignations, the latest being LeRoy Harshbarger, whose resignation was accepted by the council Tuesday night.

Bulletin: Mayor Paul Schuler was in the process of polling members of the city council by telephone this morning to determine if the council will accept a new compromise worked out by the union representing treatment plant employees at meeting last night. In return for reducing the number of layoffs to two, the union membership has agreed to give up weekend manning quotas and to relax overtime payment requirements. They rejected any changes in the sick leave policy.

In his letter, Harshbarger said he was resigning. "Due to the present city financial crisis and hopefully to prevent further layoffs of fire department personnel and with mixed emotions..." The resignation was effective Aug. 1.

A spokesman for the fire department said the four resignations have made it possible to recall two firefighters who were laid off when the initial budget cuts began.

Not the heat, but humidity... French youth learns on visit

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Playing tennis in Granite City is not quite the same as taking to the courts in France, especially in August, Christian Grelley-Bosviel found out this week during a game at Wilson Park while the thermometer hovered in the mid-80's.

Although agreeing the current weather here "is very hot," the youthful French student quickly added, "It is not really the temperature, but the pressure of the air, the density, or how you say...the humidity that makes it more difficult to breathe."

Three days after his arrival in the United States, Christian Grelley-Bosviel discovered an expression, albeit in his own terminology, which is a favorite of most Midwesterners during the summer months. "It's not the heat, it's the humidity."

The 17-year-old French youth became part of the family of Salvation Army Captain and Mrs. Donald Salisbury upon arriving here Saturday.

He will remain, not as a guest, but as a Salisbury family member, until Aug. 28.

Christian came to the Midwest along with 252 young people from France as part of the International Student Exchange of Iowa Program, in affiliation with the North Atlantic Cultural Exchange League (NACEL), a nonprofit organization.

He and his fellow students, ranging in age from 13 to 19, traveled by a special chartered Capital Airways jet from Paris to Des Moines, Iowa, where the group then was dispersed to various towns throughout Iowa, Kansas and Missouri.

Christian is one of three or four students living on the Illinois side of the bi-state region.

His sister, Pascale, 16, is staying with Audit firm review shows county lost interest on $11.7 million

By JUDY TAPLIN
Madison County lost revenues because it didn't make short-term investments with some of the $11.7 million in property tax collections it had on hand last Nov. 30, Price

Waterhouse & Company says. The financial management firm's review of county practices in 1980 showed that none of the $11.7 million was drawing interest on the last day of the 1980 fiscal year.

Taxes are collected at 36 banks in Madison County. Price Waterhouse said 15 of the banks had more than $100,000 in property taxes Nov. 30, and that one bank had $2.2 million and another $3.4 million, representing "a substantial loss of interest income to the county."

Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus says the amount in the banks was unusually high Nov. 30 because of a combination of circumstances involving the Thanksgiving holiday and the fact that the second installment of property taxes was at the penalty date.

The Price Waterhouse report to the county included 24 recommendations — a number of which had been made last year and the year before but which as yet haven't been acted on by the county.

The finance committee will urge the full county board to accept all 24 recommendations at its Aug. 19 meeting, according to committee member Fred Dalton, Collinsville.

In the report, Price Waterhouse says the county is violating several state laws, doesn't have enough checks and balances on its employees and doesn't use its computer enough.

The auditing firm noted that in Circuit Clerk Willard Portell's office the same people are receiving and disbursing funds. The circuit clerk has 17 offices throughout the county which collect between $3.4 million a year. Price Waterhouse is recommending that the county perform an in-depth study of internal accounting controls in Portell's office.

The firm said the county might consider use of direct bank deposits for bond monies collected by law enforcement agencies and for monies mailed to the county.

The county might also request police agencies to submit a second copy of all tickets to a circuit clerk employee who has no other cash duties. The report said these things would lessen the chance of misappropriation of funds.

Price Waterhouse also noted that receipts and disbursements in Portell's office aren't reflected in the county's general ledger. Only the cash balance at the end of the year is included currently in the county's financial report.

Price Waterhouse said it is the county's responsibility to monitor collection and distribution of monies by the circuit clerk's office.

To gain interest on property tax collections, Price Waterhouse is recommending that the county establish a maximum dollar balance for tax collections at each of the 26 banks and that the county require the banks to invest the excess in short-term investments until a distribution of taxes take place.

Henkhaus said he will come up with some sort of plan to implement the recommendation.

He isn't sure the banks are going to be receptive, however, since they will be losing the investment potential the county will gain.

"This has been the system here for quite a while. To get the banks to collect, they could get as much as possible from it," Henkhaus told a reporter.

He said some banks may not be interested in being collectors any longer if the county is going to get the investment interest.

Henkhaus said the $11.7 million on deposit Nov. 30 didn't give the true picture.

"That was just bad timing," he said, referring to the Thanksgiving vacation and the fact that Tuesday had been the penalty date for payment of taxes.

A large number of people always pay their taxes at the last minute, he said, and almost all corporations do. Dec. 1, the next day, the county had distributed $3 million to the taxing bodies. Also, Henkhaus said, but the money hadn't been taken out of the tax collection account yet.

"A month before, there was nowhere near the balance," he said of the $11.7 million.

"I want to make as much money as I can for the county, and I also want to get the money out (to the taxing bodies)," he said.

The treasurer's office made more than 12 different distributions last year to taxing bodies.

The report said the county is violating state law by not designating the first part of replacement taxes (the tax in the place of the former corporate personal property tax) for bonded indebtedness and pension requirements.

The county also has too much money in six Madison County banks, Price Waterhouse said.

State law says county funds can't exceed 75 percent of a bank's capital stock and surplus.

Four of the six banks hadn't pledged an adequate amount of securities, the report said.

New course in technology at Washington U

Beginning this fall at Washington University in St. Louis, liberal arts students can explore technology — how it works plus its meaning and impact on society — in a new program spanning history and engineering.

The program will be supported in part by a three-year $250,000 grant from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation. A joint effort of the College of Arts and Sciences and the School of Engineering and Applied Science, the program will be administered by Robert C. Williams, chairman of the Department of History, and Robert P. Morgan, chairman of the Department of Technology and Human Affairs.

According to Williams and Morgan, the program will provide a framework for cooperation between the disciplines. Several new courses will be created which teach engineering concepts, applied mathematics and computing skills to liberal arts students.

At the same time, students in engineering, science and mathematics will be encouraged to understand the historical context and background of technological development, innovation and policy. Students also will be able to elect a new minor in History and Technology.

One new course being offered this fall is "Nuclear Energy and Contemporary History." The course is being coordinated by Williams, who wrote the history of the U.S. Department of Energy's involvement in the Three Mile Island accident. A second new offering, "Computing and Its Applications," is slated for spring. Eventually, such courses should be applicable to other liberal arts colleges not associated with engineering schools.

The Department of Technology and Human Affairs, one of seven departments in the School of Engineering, has been aided by two previous grants from the Sloan Foundation.

Revise agenda

There have been several changes made to the agenda for the Wednesday, Aug. 12, meeting of the Granite City Board of Appeals.

Secretarial error in the inspection department is listed as the reason for the changes. The proper agenda lists consideration of requests by Jim Henson, 2817 Maryville Road, and Jerome Johnson, 2426 Lincoln Ave., to build attached garages closer to the property lines than allowed by city zoning codes.

Also to be considered are a request from Bob Stomum, 4006 North St., to construct a lean-to near his side property line, Lawrence Jaros, 2114 Clark Ave., to construct an aluminum carport near his side property line and Philip Edwards, 1636 Spring Ave., to construct a garage addition less than two feet from the rear property line.

The Granite City Plan Commission will meet the following day, Aug. 13, to consider three requests.

Otis Gomell is requesting a change from R-2 (single family) zoning to R-4 (multi-family) zoning for duplexes at 3220, 3224, 3226, and 3232 Yale Drive. Emmet J. Williams, also is seeking a change from R-3 (single family) zoning to R-4 for a duplex at 2032 Bryan Ave.

The Plan Commission also is to study a request from Mrs. Shirley Pierce, 1937 Benton St., for a C-1 commercial classification, rather than the present R-5 (multi-family residential) to operate a beauty shop.

Both the Plan Commission and Board of Appeals make recommendations to the Granite City Council, which has to give final approval to all rezonings.

A property damage charge was added when he allegedly kicked and damaged the car's left rear door frame.

Senator Vadalabene presented 'Friend of Education' award

Eight legislators were recently honored by the Illinois Association of Regional Superintendents of Schools (IARSS) for their contributions to education. The "Friend of Education" awards were presented July 16 by the IARSS during its annual convention with the Illinois State Board of Education at Springfield's Holiday Inn East.

One legislator from each of the six Educational Service Region areas and two legislators chosen at-large are honored annually for their "significant contributions to education" during the General Assembly's spring session.

This year's "Friend of Education" winners were—Area I — Rep. Dennis Hastert, R-Yorkville, a former economics and American government teacher and wrestling coach for Yorkville District 115. Hastert, representing the 39th District since January, serves on the House Revenue and Higher Education Committees. He is a member of the Family Support Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse board and the Illinois High School Association Advisory Board.

Area II — Rep. Richard Mautino, D-Spring Valley, fourth-term legislator from the 57th District who serves on the House Financial Institutions and Appropriations Committees.

Area III — Rep. Jim Reilly, R-Jacksonville, chairman of the House Elementary and Secondary Education Committee. Reilly, an attorney and member of the legislature from the 49th District since 1977, also serves on the House Appropriations Committee and the School Problems Commission.

Area IV — Sen. John Maitland, Jr., R-Bloomington, of the 44th District. He is a member of the Senate Elementary and Secondary Education Committee and the School Problems Commission. Maitland, who was first elected in 1978, also serves on the Senate Revenue, and Agriculture, Conservation and Energy Committees.

Area V — Sen. Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, who represents the 56th District. Vadalabene, who has served in the legislature since 1967, is a member of the Higher Education, Appropriations II and Insurance Committees and is chairman of the Executive Appointments Committee.

Area VI — Rep. James Rea, D-Christopher, a member of the House Democrat Task Force on Education and the House Appropriations Committee. Rea, who has represented the 59th District since 1979, served on the Christopher Community High School District 38 Board of Education for eight years and was board president for five of those years.

At-large — Rep. Irvin Smith, R-Springfield, a member of the House Elementary and Secondary Education Subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee. Smith, who has represented the 50th District since January, is a former teacher, coach and principal for Springfield District 186 Schools and was the Regional Superintendent of Schools for Sangamon County from 1975-1980.

At-large — Sen. John Davidson, R-Springfield, Minority Spokesman on the Senate Elementary and Secondary Education Committee. Davidson, who also represents the 50th district, serves on the School Problems Commission. In 1973 he was named Outstanding Republican Freshman Senator by the Illinois Education Association. He was first elected to the State Senate in 1972.

Eagle Park fire district sets meeting on Saturday

The Eagle Park Fire Protection District will hold a public meeting at 12 noon Saturday, Aug. 8, in the Eagle Park Improvement Association Hall, 100 Hill St. Principal point of discussion will focus on methods of providing assistance to Venice Township by securing reimbursement of funds for fire and ambulance calls.

made in the unincorporated community, especially from families covered by insurance for such services, according to Ed Salmond, a trustee for the fire protection district.

Venice Township Supervisor Christ Pashoff is scheduled to attend the public session, Salmond advised.

A call for bids has been issued by the Madison County Community Development Office to supply a fire truck and firefighting equipment for the newly established fire protection district, he said.

The bids are due by Aug. 14 at the Venice Township office, he added.

Attends ballet conference

Maria Tenillado, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Tenillado of Granite City, was among more than 200 students from the United States, Canada and England attending the Cecchetti Ballet Conference July 6-17 at Michigan State University.

Maria has been studying the Cecchetti technique with teacher Nancy Wiltz of the Collinsville Dance Studio for the past four years.

The conference, now in its 30th summer on the MSU campus, is open to young dancers 12 and older who wish to improve their dance movement and style. It is sponsored by the Cecchetti Council of America and MSU's Lifelong Education Programs.

In addition to daily classes in ballet, character dance, history of ballet, and mime and makeup, all students participated in the public performance in the University Auditorium. Tuition scholarships for the 1982 summer conference were awarded to outstanding students at the end of the performance.

REGISTRATION

Parents of 4-year-old children eligible to participate in the Head Start programs in the Quad-Cities must register the children no later than 4 p.m. Friday, Aug. 14. Information for Granite City School District 9 may be obtained by telephoning 876-4359. Madison and Venice information may be obtained by telephoning 876-6190.

Petitions seek Relief

It quotes former sewer committee chairman Louis Whitsell, who resigned in protest over the $15.80 a month charge, saying that it will generate a profit and that EPA rules prohibit the district from making a profit. The authors of the letter also charge that the sewer district is misrepresenting its financial situation. They contend that records for May 31 showed assets in the sewer service area's construction fund of $828,991 and liabilities of only $842,000, leaving a surplus of $86,991.

The contractor's bill totaled less than the $17 million appropriated, all of which has been paid except $797,000, the letter contends. The five percent of the grant the EPA is withholding until the sewers receive final approval will total $656,859, or $59,859 more than the bill, it adds.

The operating fund showed assets of $25,833 and liabilities of $69,753, a deficit of $43,920, but the surplus of $86,991 in the construction fund, minus the deficit of $43,920 in the operating fund leave a surplus of $43,920, the letter says.

Despite contentions that the district is short of funds, it is proposing construction of a $150,000 warehouse and installation of a generator and monitoring system costing $157,380. With a 75 percent federal grant, the homeowners will have to pay the remaining $76,895, the letter notes. If the surplus from the above funds are used to pay the local share, the sewer district would still have a surplus of $26,025, using the May 31 figures, which were before the increase in the monthly charge, the document contends.

It also questions why the EPA's five percent being withheld totals $856,859. If that is five percent, then the whole grant is $17,137,200. With the $5 million in general obligation bonds the county sold, the total available should be $22,137,200, rather than the $17 million the project was to cost. "If the $22 million plus figure is accurate, the people would like to know, where did the money go?" the letter asks.

Noting that government is supposed to be "Of the people, for the people and by the people," the letter states, "We can only wonder when and how did Madison County officials acquire the powers it has been exercising — some of which appear to be in violation of our constitutional rights?"

Finally, it questions whether Granite City can impose a surcharge for treating sewage from the townships when the Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant was built with a federal grant designed to provide a facility to treat the sewage from all four townships.

Attempts by the city to raise this surcharge resulted in a six month delay in the project and subsequent loss of revenue to the county. "This delay and loss of revenue which resulted to the county from it appears to be part of the county's problems," the letter contends.

It asks the governor to study the appeal as the people of the sewer district "apply for redress of their grievances." It adds, "We trust you may see fit to refer these matters to your attorney general for investigation."

Madison to vote

our city, to hold seminars to explain the advantages of home rule.

"Under home rule we are hoping to have the authority to change things for the better for all residents of Madison," Sasyk said.

Cities that are not home rule can only do what the Illinois Revised Statutes allow them to do, based on the laws passed by the state legislature.

Home rule cities basically have the power to do what they want as long as state or federal law does not prohibit it.

Should there be conflict between a county regulation and a home rule city ordinance, the city ordinance would prevail, city officials explained.

In response to further questions by citizens on city finances the question was asked about the cost to taxpayers on the new city mini mall being constructed on Third Street and Madison Avenue.

Mayor Sasyk explained that the mini-mall would not cost the taxpayers a "dime," as bonds are being sold and some federal grant money and private money obtained.

It was also noted that the multi-million dollar expansion of Southwest Steel Co., in the Maerz Industrial Park will not only mean more jobs, but will mean more tax revenue.

The council approved the appointment of Michael R. Bilbrey as assistant city attorney.

Bilbrey, his wife Linda and 8-year-old son Chris, live in Pontoon Beach. He was born and reared in Venice, is a past president of Madison Explorer Post 10-4 and graduated from St. Louis University Law school.

Sasyk noted that the city may need to enter suit against the village of Pontoon Beach and the Illinois Department of Revenue over a $20,000 tax payment made to Pontoon Beach in error by the state.

The money was from taxes from Schermer's grocery paid Pontoon Beach after the store had closed there and was really due Madison, from the Madison store.

Sasyk said the state wants 30 months to repay and the mayor declared they should have the money now or at least in no longer than six months.

Second Ward Alderman William Gushoff asked the mayor about having a study done on the stop signs in Madison.

"I am getting a lot of comments from people about our stop signs. Many people are just not making them and I feel we should have a study to see if there is a need for all the stop signs," Gushoff said.

Sasyk said he would appoint a committee to study the question and a need, if any, for change.

Arson attempt outside tavern

Authorities are investigating an arson attempt occurring early Tuesday outside the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave. Kerosene or diesel fuel poured near a wall on the north side of the building ignited but apparently burned itself out without causing any damage.

Fuel near the front door and sidewalk failed to catch fire and was washed away by Granite City firemen.

A man who was barred from the tavern after bothering customers Monday night is being sought for questioning. He was about 25 years old, 5-6, weighing 140, and had shoulder-length light brown hair.

Wheel chairs, hospital beds, crutches, commodes and walkers are available on a short term basis at no charge.

The agency accepts for service everyone who expresses a need of any kind regardless of race or creed. Most of their active cases are not Catholic.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT. New members of the Granite City High School North marching band practice the basics of marching Tuesday morning at the school. Here the students learn the proper movements to make an "about face"

Steel style. The band is under the direction of Robert D. Todoroff. The Steel City Belles pom squad and North Guard flag and rifle squads also are participating in the three-week summer practice and training program.

Man injured in accident

Jack Wilson, 58, Pennsylvania, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 5:30 a.m. today following an auto accident at Illinois Route Three and West Chain of Rocks Road, Mitchell.

Wilson, according to a police spokesman, was driving westbound on Chain of Rocks Road, allegedly ran a stop sign and struck a northbound tractor-trailer at Route 3. The truck was driven by Charles D. Ratcliff, 48, Farmington, Mo. The Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department used the Hearst tool (jaws of life) to remove Wilson from his car. He suffered injuries to his head, face, and neck and was taken by ambulance to the medical center.

Lightning causes Venice power outage

At 10:25 Wednesday night, lightning struck a 34,500-volt line on South 4th Street (Route 3), darkening all but a small portion of the city of Venice.

The hit line was not damaged, but it draped across a 4,000-volt line which services a major portion of the residential customers in Venice. Service was interrupted for some customers for as little as 10 to 15 minutes and most of the city's power service was restored in about one hour after the incident.

About 125 homes remained without power for approximately five hours while repair crews replaced two spans of the 4,000-volt line, according to an Illinois Power spokesman.

Police received reports of a live wire down around 10:25 p.m. and responded to the scene to prevent motorists from running over the wire.

The Venice Police and Fire departments were without electricity for about an hour and used battery-powered walkie-talkies for base station communications. The police department began using the government-band radio when the regular police base radio was found to be inoperative. The government band radio was still being used this morning.

The power outage did not affect emergency services.

Voegeles are robbed

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus "Bud" Voegelé, 3188 Aubrey Ave., and their son Ronald, 11, were the victims of an armed robbery in the westbound lanes of I-64 in Washington Park Saturday night.

The Voegelé family was westbound on the highway when two of their cars were shot at 10:50 p.m. The three were then confronted by robbers who displayed a blue-steeled revolver thought to be a .357 caliber weapon.

Marcus Voegelé was robbed of his wallet which contained personal papers, identification and credit cards in addition to about $70. Shirley Voegelé was also robbed of her purse which also contained personal papers, identification, credit cards and about $30 in cash. The robbers also pulled several things from Mrs. Voegelé's hands. Nothing was taken from the boy.

A similar incident was alleged to have occurred in the Belleville area later the same night and the Illinois Department of Criminal Investigation is investigating both incidents.

None of the Voegelé family were harmed during the robbery.

Strike will halt lifting of plane

The strike by Operating Engineers Local 520, now in its fourth day, probably will halt the proposed lifting of the F4U jet fighter-bomber memorial aircraft in Wilson Park onto its new pedestal base.

The hoisting project, designed to help eliminate vandalism to the aircraft, required use of a large crane.

Prior to the work stoppage, plans had been made to lift the plane between 9 and 10 a.m. Saturday.

$8 million bonds for development

Granite City aldermen voted unanimously Tuesday night to arrange an industrial bond issue of up to $8 million to assist in financing a planned "substantial development including commercial buildings, office buildings and residential condominiums" on the eastern edge of the city.

Stanley Lucas, president of SEMCO, Inc., asked the council Tuesday night to pass a resolution of intent to issue the industrial revenue bonds of up to $8 million for the project. The resolution calls for the city to pursue the feasibility of the bonds and to "determine a mutually agreeable basis" for preparation and sale of the bonds.

Lucas did not reveal specific plans for the project, but has told city officials that he wants to extend St. Clair Avenue from Maryville Road to Mockingbird Lane and develop an acre area along the new roadway.

According to City Engineer Monroe Brewer, the $8 million in industrial development bonds sought by Lucas would be for site development only. "That's for streets, sewers and grading the property. Then customers can buy parcels and get their own bond issues for buildings and whatever," Brewer explained.

He said the proposed development will rely upon the new city zoning code which is scheduled for adoption by the council this fall, which will allow "planned unit development" (PUD) projects.

In a planned unit development, traditional zoning, set-back requirements and other zoning matters can be waived and the city can approve an entire project as one zoning unit. The PUD concept gives developers freedom to mix residential, multi-family, commercial and even industrial development in innovative and attractive ways without tedious rezoning and variance requirements for each parcel, planners say.

Brewer said he is impressed with the plans, thus far, and stated, "If the whole thing goes together, it will be a really neat thing. It is large enough that the people already there won't have much of a problem. In a PUD, you can buffer existing residential areas from the new commercial areas with apartments or something."

Brewer said Lucas told him there already are some prospective commercial buyers for lots in the proposed development and the resolution of intent by the city to issue $8 million in industrial revenue bonds for site development will assist him in attempting to secure firm commitments.

Lucas was informed at the meeting Tuesday night that he will have to have the proper bond ordinances prepared for council approval and he agreed to work with the city administration in preparing a package which will be acceptable to all parties involved.

Brewer predicted that once the city secures the $8 million for Lucas, additional requests for industrial revenue bond issues will be submitted to the city by businesses interested in locating in the new development.

Industrial revenue bonds are repaid from the profits on the various projects they finance and the city's taxpayers are not liable, in any way, to repay them, attorneys have assured the city council in prior discussions of revenue bonds.

The industrial revenue bonds have been used for many large projects in the city, including the construction of Pre-Cast Metals, the expansions of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Air Products & Chemicals, Inc., and Granite City Steel, the equipping of Michigan Metals and other improvements.

Halt burglary attempt at A&P

A man who appeared to have a gun in the waistband of his trousers attempted to break into the A&P Food store, 2016 Madison Ave., at 9:10 p.m. Monday but was frightened away by the manager, who yelled at him.

The manager, Tracy Hand, said he was in the office, near the front of the store, when he heard two loud noises. He looked at the front door and saw a man in his 30s, about 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighing about 180 pounds and having short dark brown hair, standing in the doorway.

Something resembling a handgun was in the waistband of the man's dark trousers and sticking out over his white dress shirt, Hand said.

Hand yelled loudly at the man, who ran across the parking lot toward the 2000 block of Iowa St. Police searched the area, but were unable to locate a suspect.

Officers found two bricks on the sidewalk near the door and noted that it appeared the bricks had been thrown at the door in an unsuccessful attempt to break the plexiglass. The windows were scratched and a crossbar was bent, police said.

a family in Kansas City, Mo., but Christian does not expect to see him until the students reassemble to return home.

"It is very far from here," he said, speaking of Kansas City, "and I don't know if it is necessary."

There is plenty of time to compare experiences when the two young people arrive back at their home near Paris, he indicated.

Christian wants to spend all his time here learning everything he can about day-to-day life in the United States and, most important, practicing his English. Experiencing the American lifestyle is a very significant aspect of the program, Captain Salsbury explained.

Families hosting students are urged to accept them as temporary members of the family, thereby affording them an opportunity to learn about its daily routine activities, the community in which they stay and American culture in general.

Families are not required to speak a foreign language to host a foreign student through the program, because the students want to use and improve their English, Capt. Salsbury explained.

"The main requirement for our host families is that they be willing and able to provide room, board, love, patience and understanding for these young people," the program organizers said.

What is important is a willingness to provide a warm welcome, to share home and family life, to establish positive relationships, to help demonstrate the American way of life and to show an interest in learning about the students' native country and their ways, it was stressed.

All the students participating in the NACEL exchange project have been studying English in school and are selected by their teachers of English to take part.

Christian has been studying English since he was 13, after first taking German which he began to study when he was 11 years old.

Now, at 17, he is quite eloquent in his third language and increasingly gained confidence in his ability to communicate as the conversation progressed.

"I have some difficulty with the younger children," he commented.

"They speak so quickly and they began telling me stories I didn't understand too well," the young man said Tuesday while at the Press-Record office.

He was referring to a visit that morning to vacation Bible school at the Salvation Army Center, where the youngsters had gathered around their special guest, all wanting to talk at once, it was learned.

Capt. and Mrs. Salsbury are the parents of two teenagers—Karla, 17, who graduated in May from Granite City High School South, and Scott, 19, who attended college for one year and presently is working in the Manpower program.

"More students here have a job during the summer months than those in France," Christian observed.

"In France, a student may work for one month of their holiday and then will spend the money (he earns) the second month," he said.

Christian said it is essential for European students to achieve workable knowledge of the English language.

"English is so important in the whole world for all sorts of reasons. It is very important for the French student to speak good English the best he can."

The young man "baccalaureated" (matriculated or graduated) from the French equivalent of American high school courses this summer, majoring in mathematics and physics.

He will now enter a preparatory college for about two years, studying two languages, history, economics, geography, philosophy and mathematics before continuing to the university.

"To enter university is very difficult and one must study hard," he said.

Christian resides with his parents in Meudon, about three miles from the "bell," which skirts the periphery of Paris.

Beside his sister, Pascale, he has two brothers, Eric, 13, and Laurent, 5.

His father is in the department (similar to state) government of France, but his authority as the second representative of the populous area near Paris is somewhat diminished since the recent elections in which a different political party attained power.

Mr. Grellety-Bosviel now is director of a state government agency responsible for the sale and purchase of buildings and grounds in the vicinity of Paris, Christian explained.

The student's mother is a journalist in the cultural field, he said.

Christian learned about the NACEL student exchange program from friends.

"It is a very serious program with good chaperones and my parents preferred to send me to America, rather than England, as there are many French students working and traveling in England," he said.

Asked what he wants to see while in the U.S., Christian answered, "I trust Mr. and Mrs. Salsbury's ideas for me and I am very happy to be with them what ever they do."

Capt. Salsbury said the family plans to take Christian to Grant's Farm; the St. Louis Zoo, the Arch and a Cardinal baseball game.

The possibility of an outing to the Mark Twain home in Hannibal, Mo., and maybe a short trip to Chicago, brought an animated response from the young guest.

When a student applies through the NACEL program, he or she already knows the Midwest is an agricultural land, and farm life and the rural areas appeals to them as much as cities, the sponsors advised.

"They are eager to discover American life and agree to participate in their host family's daily routine."

Participants are required to abide by specific rules and are expected to be good citizens and to obey the laws of the host country, just as if they are a native of that country, it was explained.

The Salsburys are so delighted with Christian, they plan to apply for another French student next summer and are hoping to host a foreign student during the school year.

Families interested in hosting a NACEL-sponsored student next summer may secure additional information and an application form by writing the program representatives:

No prosecution

circumstances, I would have no alternative. I could possibly get into trouble if I tried to prosecute for a crime the state's attorney says is not a crime," the mayor stated.

The new legal opinion was written May 15 and was distributed to all county law enforcement agencies June 1.

It also may have a bearing on prosecutions pending against employees of the Granite City Eagles Home 1126, who are to go to court Tuesday in Granite City on charges of keeping a gambling establishment.

The Eagles Home was raided June 5 and officers alleged finding four slot machines and a quantity of betting tabs. The bartender, John Aubuchon, and a club officer, Jay Phillips, were arrested and are to answer the charges in court in the Granite City city hall Tuesday.

Schuler said he was unaware of the disposition of the Eagles' cases, but it is unlikely that he will take any future action against the club's liquor license, in light of Weber's opinion.

The opinion came in the form of a written letter to Madison County Sheriff Emil Toffant, in response to an inquiry Weber says in that letter, "After a careful investigation of these slot gambling statutes and the mental states required for a conviction under the law of the state... I have come to the conclusion that the statutes should be enforced according to the intention of the person running the games and the intention of the person paying the money."

"It is my opinion that games run by charitable, religious, fraternal, political or with other eleemosynary endeavors are not 'gambling' endeavors within the meaning of the statute."

"I feel the intention of persons running the games or participating in them is to make a contribution to such organizations rather than to gamble."

"This is particularly clear in the case of 50-50 drawings at doors, raffles and other fund-raising devices similar to those items. While it is less clear with respect to card games, mouse games and other such activities, I do feel that the intention of the proprietor and the participant is to make a charitable contribution rather than to gamble."

"I therefore do not feel that it is appropriate to commence criminal prosecutions with respect to activity run by the above listed organizations."

"I do feel, however, that 'gambling' is the object of the enterprise of games of chance or skill in which the proprietor of such games is conducting the activity for profit. This would include tote boards and any sort of wagering on athletic contests done at taverns or on carnival grounds provided, of course, that these activities are engaged in for profit by non-charitable proprietors," the state's attorney concluded.

Schuler said he does not believe the legal opinion outlaws 13-run tavern pools or football pools at taverns, as long as the games are designed to pay out all the money collected. He said one specific tavern owner told him that the football pool at his tavern actually costs him money to operate.

"If a tavern owner designs the pools so the tavern gets a percentage of the total or gets free squares on the board, then that game is probably in violation of the law, was the indication."

However, in charitable, religious and fraternal clubs, slot machines, drawings, payoff pinball and other games seem to be legal, for the time being, as long as the patron realizes he is making a charitable contribution when he puts his money in the slot.

"I do feel, however, that 'gam-

Four city layoffs

"If they want to save one or two employees (with concessions), we can call them back, but I'm in favor of letting it happen right now."

Alderman Jake Varadian agreed, saying, "We agreed to let Mr. Young talk and open up the contract. The rank and file wouldn't agree to give anything up. I think we should lay four off and if they do make concessions, then the four can be rehired."

Fisk said the original plan to make concessions during a 12 month period for four jobs soon dwindled to proposals to give up some benefits for nine months and try to save two jobs, "but the men did not want to give up any concessions. The union (membership) turned them down Friday."

Terrence McMillan, superintendent of the city's sewage treatment plant, said the union still is working with the employees, attempting to work out a package to save two men. Among the savings being considered is forfeiting the three and one percent increases in wages negotiated for the coming year.

giving up their clothing allowances, using compensating time to offset any overtime which may be worked and foregoing the first two days of sick leave pay.

He warned that layoffs may necessitate additional overtime, "eating up" any savings from the layoffs.

Wednesday, McMillan predicted that the union will oppose the changes he will have to make to operate the plant with 24 persons, plus himself.

"With that much of a layoff, there is no way that you can meet the terms of that ordinance (the union contract). I would do what is necessary to maintain the plant, prevent water pollution and maintain 100 percent service to our customers, but with these layoffs, I am not going to put two men on each shift during weekends (as called for in the union contract). I will use one man."

"I will man the plant in its most effective and productive manner, regardless of what the contract says," McMillan said, warning that the union objections to violating the contract could end up in court.

The layoffs were not the only "whack" taken at the treatment plant employees by Mayor Tuesday night. He also asked McMillan to prepare a list of sick leave in the treatment plant and provide each alderman with a copy.

"It's really alarming. Some departments have people with 17 and 18 years without a day of sick leave. At the treatment plant, they use sick leave for vacations," Decatur contended.

He said the city has an ordinance dealing with sick leaves and demanded, "Let's enforce the ordinance."

In other business related to personnel, the council agreed to grant promotions to seven firefighters to fill spots caused by the recent resignations. Capt. George Moran was promoted to shift commander, Engineers Walmer Schmide, Arthur Marcum and James Strack were promoted to captain and Pipemen Carl Kalbrenner, Robert Dawes and Ray Schultz were promoted to the rank of engineer.

Confiscate

A police officer patrolling the downtown area was halted by a couple and another man in the parking lot of the club and the couple alleged that they had lost approximately $280 in the gambling machines.

The man said it was the second large loss he had sustained, having lost about $700 another night recently. They said the machines had pull arms and operated like slot machines, but the bartender had to play off winning combinations.

One of the three who told police of the alleged gambling had a guest card to the club and when the bartender opened the door for him, the police officer looked inside, saw the electronic machines and entered.

He called for Capt. Harry Mitchell, head of the Granite City Police Department's patrol division and Mitchell assisted in confiscating the slot machines and arresting the bar manager, Joe Heffery, 71, of 2632 E. 28th St., and the bartender, Joe Grobelnik, 59, of 2575 Washington Ave. The club was closed for the night and the two men charged with keeping a gambling place were released on $102 cash bond each.

Mayor Paul Schuler, the city's liquor license commissioner, said he has taken the matter under advisement.

weapon, but no weapon was displayed in any of the three cases, he added.

The state of Missouri has deferred prosecution to the federal authorities, Adler added.

The arrest warrant was issued by Federal Magistrate William S. Ballew after evidence gathered by St. Louis Detectives Harvey Foster and Ron Bell indicated Pence as a suspect and they, the FBI and other detectives were able to prepare the case, which they presented to Judge Bohn.

Participating in the arrest, besides Detectives Foster and Bell were Lt. Oray Hobbs and Detective Adler, along with federal agents Tom Fargus and John Joyce.

Glen L. Young, special agent in charge of the St. Louis office of the FBI, said that Pence is officially charged with violating Title 18, Section 2133a of the U.S. Code (bank robbery), which carries a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison, a $5,000 fine or both.

Agent Young said the Granite City Police Department cooperated with agents of the St. Louis and Springfield FBI offices and the burglary and robbery division of the St. Louis Police Department in solving the robbery.

State to own Dana House

A new law allows the state to purchase "Dana House" in Springfield. "This Frank Lloyd Wright home is one of the architectural treasures of Illinois," Gov. James R. Thompson says.

"It was considered the showpiece of Springfield and one of the finest examples of Wright's work in the early 1900s. I intend to see that this beautiful work is preserved for all Illinois citizens to see."

The law appropriates $1 million from capital development bond fund to buy the house from the Charles C. Thomas Publishing Co., which bought it in 1944. Thompson thanked the Thomas firm for its efforts at preservation and restoration of the house during the 37 years that it was the owner.

Dana House was designed by Wright in 1901-02 and construction was completed about 1907. Much of the house is furnished with original Wright-designed furniture.

The Department of Conservation's Historic Sites Division will be in charge of preservation and restoration following its purchase. The house is expected to be opened to the public after an inventory and the development of an interpretive program for visitors.

Registration at South next week

Students who will be new to the Granite City School District later this month and who intend Granite City High School South are being asked to register either Aug. 17, 18 or 19 at the school.

Students who are graduating into the high school from the city's junior high schools are already registered and need not register again.

"We want to stress that this registration is only for students who are new to the district or those who have dropped out and want to return to school," said Fred "Pat" Schuman, assistant principal at South.

New students may register that Monday through Wednesday from 8 to 11 a.m. or 1 to 3:30 p.m. at the school office.

STEVEN PENCE

Builders reject engineers' proposal; strike in 4th day

The Southern Illinois Builders Association board yesterday rejected a new proposal submitted Tuesday by Operating Engineers Local 520.

The action continues into the fourth day a construction work stoppage that began Monday following operating engineers' 21-vote Sunday against a tentative contract settlement.

The strike has halted work on the 19th Street overpass in Granite City, the SUE multi-purpose building, a Kilgus plant in Wood River, the Springfield Catholic diocese's Marian Heights apartments in Alton, Interstate 270 extension work, a Hollywood road region, about 10,000 workers are affected, including carpenters, ironworkers and cement masons.

The Mississippi River lock and dam replacement site also is the scene of picketing but work there halted several days earlier because of high water levels.

Wednesday's SIBA announcement withheld details and said they are being mailed to contractors who are members of the association.

No date for new negotiations has been set, but federal mediators indicate they will contact both parties to attempt to schedule a meeting.

The proposal from Local 520 came at the end of a bargaining session Tuesday that was described as having made some progress.

Jerry Wray, business agent, said SIBA approval would have enabled him to schedule a union ratification meeting this Sunday or Monday. With the rejection, no such vote will be taken among the 600 union members.

In their vote early this week against the tentative agreement, operating engineers indicated no major opposition to wage proposals. But they said provisions on work rules were unsatisfactory, and they suggested different working conditions Tuesday. The men run heavy equipment at building sites.

The SIBA earlier reached three-year agreements with ironworkers, carpenters and laborers, all of whom gave overwhelming approval. The ironworkers' vote, a 6-1 margin, took place last Friday.

The 350 members of Cement Masons Local 90 will vote next Monday, Aug. 10, on a tentative three-year pact agreed upon Saturday. Business Agent Dean Turner said, "It's a good agreement, and we recommend it."

Contracts ended July 31, and new agreements were ratified by three of the five unions before the expiration. However, none of the unions will cross picket lines.

Wayne Barber Jr., SIBA executive director, is handling negotiations for the builders.

Lazerson was among educators who visited China universities

An educational agreement linking regional universities in the People's Republic of China with those in the U.S. may result from a recent educational mission sponsored by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU). Among those participating in the trip was Earl E. Lazerson, president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

At the invitation of the Chinese Ministry of Education, the 15-member presidential mission spent three weeks assessing the educational level of provincial universities and the climate for a cooperative agreement.

Both assessments were positive. The pending agreement between the Ministry and the provincial bureaus of higher education and AASCU is directed primarily at expanding exchange opportunities for provincial universities. "The 'Harvards' and the 'M.I.T.s' of the PRC already have exchange programs with the U.S.," said AASCU President Allan W. Ostar. "But there are universities in the provinces that want to engage in cooperative exchanges with U.S. institutions — and certainly the students expressed a sincere desire to study here — and state colleges and universities are a likely group for the other half of a two-way program."

Under the agreement, AASCU would serve as a "matchmaker." Neither it nor the Ministry would conduct programs, but each would facilitate institutional agreements and assist in identifying institutions with complementary needs and interests. For example, AASCU would find institutions among its members that would be appropriate for various PRC students pursuing master's degrees — a major thrust of the proposed agreement. The mission visited universities, as well as primary schools and middle schools, in five provinces.

According to Ostar, the assessment of textbooks, instructional materials, equipment, and level of instruction — revealed a determination to recoup the intellectual losses of the cultural revolution, the "10 years of catastrophe," as it is referred to in China.

Ostar said that the most obvious evidence of the hiatus is a lack of mid-level teachers who are prepared to step into senior teaching positions; a generation that lost academic rigor to political polemics. But, Ostar said that he witnessed an enormous determination to overcome his lapse, for the general population as well as for teachers.

In-service programs are offered to teachers. Adult education programs are wide-spread; night classes, correspondence courses, courses by TV. "Turn on the television during the day and view algebra and chemistry, not soap operas," he said. "There are many older students in the PRC today, those who were relegated summarily to the factories and communes during the cultural revolution who, under the PRC's new academic emphasis, are a reservoir of talented, highly-motivated human resources."

While the assessment was the formal agenda, for Ostar the informal agenda was a comparison of two cultures:

the one he visited in 1975 as a member of one of the first educational missions to the PRC, and China as it is today. The comparison yielded striking change for him, particularly the new emphasis upon merit and academic excellence. In 1975, a student was referred to as a worker-peasant-soldier-student, and was selected by the commune or factory, based on the strength of political attitudes. It was an intellectual selection process and students were taught the theory of the dictatorship of the proletariat and the refutation of Confucius.

Today, said Ostar, students are selected for university admission through rigorous national competitive exams that test student knowledge in history, geography, politics, science and math, and foreign language, including English. Because of the limited number of openings in the universities, only a fraction of the students who graduate from middle school win a place in the universities. Of the five million middle school graduates eligible to take the national competitive exams this year, only 280,000 will be admitted to universities.

The emphasis upon proficiency in the English language is another noticeable change. The PRC government believes that mastery of English is a necessary step to becoming a modern industrial power. For example, the Chinese alphabet has approximately 3,500 characters, impossible for programming a computer. Thus, English is required in the middle schools and there seems to be a "hunger" among the population to learn English, according to Ostar.

The bookstores are full of books in English. People seek every opportunity to "practice" their skills with visitors. The broadcasts of Voice of America and BBC are freely heard. "With their determination and their vast numbers," he said, "it should not take too long for China to possess the largest English-speaking population on earth."

Other changes struck Ostar as he moved among the provinces. The "Free Enterprise System" is taking root; it is now possible to borrow money to open small businesses. Billboards that bore political slogans six years ago now carry posters advertising radios, toiletries, and watches.

China is becoming a consumer society.

It is hoped that the cooperative agreement will be approved and the institutional linkages will be in place by 1982, the year the first class of students who enrolled under the competitive examinations will complete their baccalaureate degrees and be ready for study at the master's level. Ostar pointed out that the proposed agreement also would involve faculty and instructional materials, and that it definitely is envisioned as bi-lateral.

"The Chinese universities have excellent resources that would benefit state college campuses, both faculty and instructional materials. For example, slides of Chinese archeological finds to which our scholars and students have not had access."

The delegation visited China from June 19 through July 11. Other members of the delegation were: President Dallas K. Beal, State University College at Fredonia (N.Y.); President Richard R. Bond, University of Northern Colorado; President Herman R. Branson, Lincoln University (Pa.); President Myron L. Couley, Idaho State University; President Thomas B. Day, San Diego State University (Cal.); President Stephen Horn, California State University at Long Beach; President Hugh La Bounty, California State Polytechnic University-Pomona; President Alex B. Lacy, Jr., Sangamon State University (Ill.); President Leslie Malpass, Western Illinois University; President Leonard C. Nelson, West Virginia Institute of Technology; President Allan W. Ostar, AASCU; President Frank E. Vandiver, North Texas State University; President Gregory Wolfe, Florida International University; and President John C. Wright, University of Alabama in Huntsville.

Draper-Abbott

Miss Karen Marie Abbott, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Luther Abbott, 2525 Center St., and James Robert Draper, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Draper Jr., 26 Meadowlark Court, were united in marriage on July 4 at Bethesda Baptist Church.

White bows with sprigs of lily of the valley marked the bows and large green plants decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Abbott, father of the bride, and Dr. Robert A. Krause, an uncle of the groom.

Pianist Mrs. Harry D. Smith played "Toneo and Juliet," "We've Only Just Begun," and "Laura's Theme," prior to the service.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Abbott chose a full length white A-line organza over tulle gown designed with an empire bodice featuring a Queen Anne neckline, accented with Chantilly lace ruffles and seed pearls, and long tapered lace sleeves. The skirt featured an apron effect with a three tiered ruffled lace flounce that graced the sides and was secured at the back waistline.

Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, edged with Chantilly lace, was held in place by a lace camelot cap, etched with pearls. She carried a silk tassel bouquet of white roses and carnations laced with stephanotis, baby's breath and starfishes. Honor attendant was Rhonda Sullivan of Tusculum, Mo., and the bridesmaid was Carolyn Belovich of Harrisburg, Ill.

They selected identical pale blue gowns with softly flaring pleated skirts and blouses with crocheted capes. Each held a bouquet of silk daisies and blue carnations interspersed with baby's breath and tied with lace streamers.

Both wore blue ripple trim hats adorned with clusters of spring flowers.

NON-EMERGENCY AMBULANCE SERVICE AVAILABLE

"We are all that we have" is the common lament of the lonely, oppressed or subjugated. It is similar to "make the best of it." The spokesperson has submitted to hard realities and has foolishly nodded in agreement. He has closed his interpretive eye. For example, one man will be called handsome while another will be called ugly. Does the handsome person possess a thing which may be termed "beauty"? And if so, does that make him beautiful? Hardly. Beauty is not a thing but a quality. The soul of a person who is classified as "ugly" may easily be as beautiful as that of the handsome person.

Beauty can truly be in the eyes of the beholder. As one gazes back upon fond memories of departed loved ones, the beauty shines through. It is a time for serene reflection upon the positive side of one's just passed lifetime. The tranquility of the moment, the serene of the surroundings and the understanding and empathy of those around you are important. For all these important considerations, in addition to the necessary professional service, let MERCER, THOMAS AND SEDLACK MORTUARIES assist you.

Historical photographs given to library

The Granite City Public Library has been presented a collection of photographs, slides and other materials which belonged to the late Ralph E. Frohardt. The collection was donated by his wife, Mrs. Mamie Frohardt, his eldest son, Louis Philip Frohardt II, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary Frohardt Simani, in his memory.

Ralph Frohardt was a teacher and principal in the Granite City School District for 41 years and was a lifelong resident of the city. He died on July 24, 1979.

His father, the late Professor Louis P. Frohardt, was the first teacher and school superintendent in the city's school system.

The photographs in the collection were taken by Homer O. Frohardt, a brother of Ralph's, and another brother, Waldo Frohardt, also of Granite City, undertook the task of sorting through and selecting those photographs and other material to be included in the collection given to the public library.

Ralph Frohardt had a great interest in Granite City history and had collected and preserved an extensive collection of photographs and other memorabilia. He frequently displayed the photographs and had compiled a black-and-white slide show, reproduced from many of the old photographs, which he would show to interested groups in the community. The collection will be displayed for the public at the main library as soon as suitable storage and display facilities have been obtained.

AN EXTENSIVE COLLECTION of historical photographs and other materials of Granite City is presented to Robert Stack, right, by Waldo Frohardt, in the photo above. The donation was made in the memory of the late Ralph E. Frohardt, a teacher and principal in the Granite City School District for 41 years. Several large photos are included in the collection which is highlighted by a collection of black and white slides, copied from original photographs, of scenes of early Granite City. At left, two of the more than 80 slides in the collection are viewed by the two men. An autobiography of Louis P. Frohardt, father of Ralph and Waldo, is also included in the collection as is a number of photographs taken of the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis by Homer Frohardt, a brother of Ralph and Waldo. All of the photographs in the collection were taken by Homer Frohardt. Some early school class photos are also included in addition to many newspaper articles and personal letters. The entire collection will be available for viewing by the public at the main library when proper storage and display facilities are obtained.

Dr. Galbreath club speaker

Dr. John W. Galbreath, Granite City chiropractor, was a guest speaker at the Haskell House Camera Club in Alton. This group of amateur photographers is sponsored by the Park District of the City of Alton and serves people in the metro-Alton area.

Following a short business meeting of the club, Dr. Galbreath spoke on the techniques of macro photography which is the study of objects at extreme close range, usually within inches, making large magnified pictures of small areas. Topics during the lecture and open discussion included types of equipment required, film and exposure considerations and an exhibit of some of Dr. Galbreath's own photographs of this type.

Dr. Galbreath, who has studied photography for many years has also served under internationally known photographer Ansel Adams and has been given three showings of his work with two being in the Chicago Civic Center Plaza.

On Sept. 19 Dr. Galbreath has arranged for one of the photographic illustrators, Ozzie Sweet, to present a lecture in Granite City for the Tri-Cities Area YMCA. Sweet has over 1,700 magazine covers to his credit and numerous display photographs which are used by companies to sell their items and by calendars. Since seating is limited residents of the area will be given early notice or they may call the YMCA at 876-7200 to reserve their tickets. The one-day lecture will be held at the Granite City Township Hall and will cost $10 in advance or $12 at the door.

State fair opens today

The 129th Illinois State Fair opened its gates today, and as many as 700,000 fairgoers are expected during its 11-day run.

They will watch livestock judging, dare friends to brave the carnival rides, shake hands with politicians, listen to music, and bombard digestive tracts with the familiar fair fare at 15 booths in the Ethnic Heritage Festival.

They'll see a balloon race, professional auto races, and a 400-pound slab of butter shaped like a cow, dance to fiddlers, and laugh at the hog and husband-calling contests.

People will compete at the State Fair in Springfield for the biggest hog, best-looking steer, best pork, best horseshoe pitcher and most great-grandchildren.

There also are contests for cheerleaders, baton twirlers, tractors, cake bakers, softball players, kitchen hands, fiddlers and banjo pickers.

The Illinois State Fair was started in 1893 as a way to promote agriculture. Despite all the attractions added over the years, the goal hasn't changed.

Two years ago, the state reaffirmed that purpose by returning the fair to the jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture.

Nearly $1 million in prize money will be awarded winners in farm competition. And thousands of dollars will be bid at the livestock auctions.

The fair runs from 8 a.m. to midnight each day. Adult general admission is $1.50. For children 2-12, admission is 50 cents.

General admission for all is 50 cents after 5 p.m. Single day parking is $3.

GC seeking approval for tax

Granite City officials plan to go to Springfield next Wednesday to meet with a legislative review board as the first step in attempting to get the state legislature to approve implementation of an earnings tax for the city.

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman told the city council Tuesday night that he had discussed the matter with State Representative Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) and Wolf suggested that city officials go to Springfield and talk to members of the legislative review board about the proposed earnings tax.

Schuman said he and Alderman Jake Varadani intend to go and said that any alderman or city official who wishes to join them would be welcome.

Schuman has been among aldermen who have said they oppose plans for utility taxes to help support the Granite City budget and would prefer an earnings tax or other form of taxation to a utility tax.

Schuman said an earnings tax would tax many people who reside outside of the city, but work within the city limits. That would reduce the tax burden on city residents, who would not have to pay the entire tax, whereas a utility tax would tax only city residents.

An earnings tax would take a percentage of all paychecks issued by businesses in the city. The issue of increased taxation is one which must be acted on by the council by the first meeting in September. Otherwise, Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles will increase the property tax rate substantially to support the city's new budget, which is approximately $1.2 million higher than the city's anticipated income during the 1981-82 fiscal year.

That leaves the council only three regular meetings in which to pass some kind of tax, or face greatly increased real estate taxes, city officials say. The council has regular meetings scheduled for Aug. 10 and 25 and must pass some form of additional taxation at the following meeting Sept. 1, to avoid the higher real estate taxes.

Some aldermen have already indicated that they would be willing to allow the property tax to rise from the $1.517 rate collected last year to approximately $1.80 for collection next summer, an increase of approximately $30 a year for a $30,000 house, assessed at $10,000.

The rate to be collected this year has not yet been computed. The effect of state-mandated multipliers has to be computed before the assessments can be applied against the city's budget to determine the tax rate, officials said yesterday.

Mayor Paul Schuler has said that the city needs to impose some kind of a tax which will generate money immediately in order to avoid a property tax increase. Some kinds of taxation, such as an income tax or a property tax, would require a year's delay before the money was received.

On the other hand, a utility tax or city earnings tax would result in cash to the city approximately one month after they are passed, the mayor noted.

He said it may be difficult for the city to impose an earnings tax or income tax, since both require approval by the state legislature and the legislature has turned down similar requests by several other cities.

Community College hikes tuition, fees for fall

State Community College in East St. Louis will increase its tuition and fees effective for the fall registration. The tuition for students residing within the state of Illinois will increase to $7 per credit hour and the student activity fee will increase to $5 per quarter. The tuition for students residing outside the state of Illinois will increase to $8.25 per credit hour plus a $5 student activity fee.

This year, the college will initiate a textbook rental fee based on the number of credit hours in which a student enrolls. For example, full-time students taking 12 hours or above will pay $15, the maximum book rental fee.

In addition the admissions fee will be paid when a student enters the college for the first time or when a student re-enters after two quarters of non-attendance. A late fee of $2 will be charged when a student registers after the beginning date for classes through the first week.

Senior citizens attending the college may continue to take a maximum course load of eight hours without paying tuition and fees.

For further information regarding financial assistance, interested persons may contact the Office of Student Financial Assistance, 875-9100, extension 284.

The following registration dates and times for 1981 fall quarter:

SINGLE-DIGIT FOOD PRICE RISE IN 1981

Retail food prices are expected to increase "less than 10 percent" for all of this year, according to William Leshner, assistant secretary of agriculture for economics.

Earlier, his department had forecast food prices would rise between 10 and 15 percent, with the most likely level at the lower end of the range, following an increase of 8.6 percent in 1980. Leshner said higher food marketing costs — mainly labor, transportation, packaging, and energy — will cause over three-fifths of the overall food price increase this year.

Binding arbitration now being allowed in teacher bargaining

Governor James R. Thompson during the weekend signed legislation allowing school districts to use binding arbitration in teacher bargaining units for collective bargaining purposes. "This legislation represents a cautious step forward in resolving labor and management disputes in school districts in our state," Thompson said. "It is my belief that taxpayers and parents are not benefited when teacher dissatisfaction or labor disputes result from the refusal of a local school board to recognize a legitimate bargaining unit or when school boards and employee organizations are precluded from completely utilizing the legitimate resolution vehicle of binding arbitration." The governor said he has consistently favored collective bargaining for teachers since he first ran for office in 1975. House Bill 701 provides that a public school district may voluntarily recognize a labor organization and collectively bargain with that organization if it appears to represent the majority number of employees.

The bill also states that a labor group may gain recognition as an exclusive representative for teachers by an election of the teachers. However, a school district would not have to collectively bargain with the employee group that won the election.

That election would be conducted by regional school superintendents. The measure also allows school districts and employees or employees groups to settle disputes through binding arbitration before disinterested third parties. There is a provision in the new law that would require a service fee on non-union employees to help "cover collective bargaining costs." "It is time for state law to assist in bringing order to the frequently confusing and inconsistent labor-management practices," Thompson said. "This bill is not a perfect first step. But after due consideration, I believe it is a step forward."

Thompson called on school districts and teacher organizations to "work together to strengthen provisions contained in the legislation."

Treasurer worried about state tax drop

State Treasurer Jerry Cosentino warned Monday that unless revenues from income and sales taxes begin to increase steadily, the state will experience a "cash crisis" by November.

According to revenue and spending projections compiled by his office, lags in sales and income tax revenues — coupled with increased public aid spending caused by high unemployment in Illinois — will exhaust the state's cash reserves soon.

Cosentino said he expects this cash crisis to occur despite recent emergency budget cuts announced by Gov. James Thompson.

"Our cash reserves will be depleted by November if the present revenue versus spending trends continue," he said. "If this occurs, the state will not have enough cash available to pay its bills as they are presented."

Cosentino added that Thompson's cuts will not alleviate the problem because they don't offset the projected lags in revenue.

"During the last fiscal year," Cosentino said, "state revenues from income taxes increased by only $117 million, which is about 60 percent less than the normal growth rate."

"What makes this situation so acute are increases in public aid spending of $359 million, triple the amount that income tax revenues increased last year."

"Sales taxes showed a similar lag and are expected to slump even further unless interest rates go down and boost consumer demand for big-ticket items such as automobiles and household appliances."

"By Oct. 1, the cash balance in the general revenue account could drop to $75 million, once all the spending for the 1981 fiscal year is recorded. Should this occur, a cash crisis in November is probable."

"The cash problems also will hamper the treasurer's investment program."

"In the last fiscal year, interest earnings from the treasurer's office produced the fifth largest source of revenue for the general revenue fund," he added.

"Next year, our earnings probably will drop by $30 million because there will be less capital to invest."

The treasurer also predicted that this September allocation for the community service deposit program will have to be reduced, and that fewer deposits will be available for banks throughout the state.

"Small and medium sized banks in Illinois depend on maintaining a steady level of state deposits," stressed Cosentino. "But I'm afraid the erosion of our cash balances will force us to cut back on long-term investments at the very time when financial institutions need additional deposits."

"More new businesses must be hired to Illinois. Otherwise, the legislature will be faced with the difficult chore of devising new revenue sources just to maintain existing operations of state government."

CREWS LIQUOR IT'S STILL QUICKER

Matthew 8:7... "And Jesus said, I will come and heal him."

"I pray for a way to convince my readers to believe that God is no respecter of persons. He loves us all in the same measure. He loves good people and He loves bad people. The Bible message is clear: He died to save sinners."

Jesus will come to you in your need. If you are sick, he will heal you. If you are depressed, he will lift you. In sorrow he will comfort you. Christ's own words are, "If any man come to me, I will in no wise cast him out."

You do not have to go anywhere to find Christ. Only open your heart and ask him to come to you.

Surely you will hear him say, "I will come. Today."

Plans must be made now to handle prison volume

Judges in Madison County and elsewhere in Illinois are getting a bit tougher, sentencing an increasing number of wrongdoers to the custody of the Department of Corrections to serve time in a variety of penal institutions.

This has been accompanied by loud cheers from citizens concerned about crime levels; they reason that an imprisoned individual isn't likely to commit many crimes against the public while behind steel bars. But it also has created an overpopulation problem inside the prison walls.

Remedial steps need to be taken, and without delay.

Some partial solutions, of course, have been considered and implemented. Two new identical, designed to handle security institutions—started in 1979—were opened and reached maximum occupancy this summer, for example.

They are the John A. Graham Correctional Center in Hillsboro and the Centralia Correctional Center. Each cost about $29 million, employs about 400 persons, houses 750 inmates and has a $12 million yearly operating budget.

Medium security prisons are the main need because they handle all types of inmates and offenses. But maximum security prisons also have a role to fill, as do minimum security farms and work centers.

Before being considered for transfer to a place like Centralia, prisoners must show an interest in academic or vocational training, be reasonably well adjusted to the procedures and rules, have less than five years remaining to serve, have committed no serious infractions of rules, have avoided involvement in gang activities, and have made no attempt to escape in the five years prior to their transfer.

The two new medium security prisons in Illinois feature a luxury that no longer will be a certainty at the new Madison County jail—single rooms for inmates. About 48 of the jail cells at Edwardsville are getting second bunks, due to this county's own dilemma of the prisoner overpopulation.

The new prisons also have relatively small housing units, designed for about 50 inmates. Centralia's 80 interior acres include 25 buildings, among them residential units, an orientation building and a segregation unit.

Along with its present training, work and recreational programs, the new Centralia prison will have a state garage in the future.

External security is provided by seven guard towers, manned by armed correctional officers. Two parallel cyclone fences, 15 feet high, with special non-climbable features on the last seven feet, are topped by razor wire and electronic sensors.

Despite such new institutions, space problems continue. All 13 adult Illinois prisons already are at full or near-full capacity, and there have been numerous early releases of inmates.

Existing room is considered adequate to house and provide services to 13,245 of our prisoners, but we need more space in four years ago. But adult prisoners are expected to total 16,500 by the end of 1984.

Michael P. Lane, Corrections Department director, suggests three alternatives:

1. Construct three additional prisons.

2. Enact a substitute to prison incarceration.

3. Or, release to accept additional offenders from local jurisdictions.

"Since refusing to accept more offenders would place a severe burden on county jails, our department has rejected that as a possibility," he says.

Prison incarceration must be developed, or funds must be found to build more prisons if Illinois is to continue to operate safely.

With state finances squeezed tighter now than they have been for many years, it is hard to see any easy answers ahead.

But solutions have been taken—and promptly, in view of the lead time required for planning and constructing new prison facilities.

High interest imperils prosperity

To the Editor:

The Ottawa summit concluded with the Europeans more or less yielding to President Reagan's stand on high interest rates. He took the position that these weren't a matter of administration policy but the result of the mess he inherited from the Carter administration.

This is a correct position. Mr. Reagan is having to pick up the pieces after years of sorry government.

In any case, the crisis of the Europeans should be discounted. They never displayed sympathy for the United States when the dollar was in decline. Instead, they held the U.S. in contempt.

The French, in particular, have a long history of ingratitude toward the United States, though the U.S. twice in this century saved the French nation from extinction.

This is not to say that Americans ought not be concerned about high interest rates.

They have good and sufficient reasons of their own to be concerned. High interest rates are a threat to the well-being of millions of our citizens.

The housing industry is at a standstill because potential home buyers can't afford to borrow money.

The American automobile industry, which has produced some outstanding, fuel-efficient cars this year, is in the midst of a discouraging season.

When the housing industry and the auto industry are in trouble, we can expect to see more and more bankruptcies. Industrial plants cannot be shut down in the wake of low auto and truck production.

The Reagan administration must be careful to avoid a rigid monetarist approach toward interest rates.

This is what has all but ruined the Thatcher government in Britain and an inability to break up monopolistic groups.

While I was in Britain a few months ago, I was shocked to read the statement of a leading monetarist that he would welcome any amount of unemployment in order to drive down inflation.

I doubt he wasn't thinking that he would be unemployed or that his children would be without jobs.

Conservatives should have a keen appreciation of the importance of employment as the foundation of a secure family life. Unemployment shatters the confidence of a nation, as we know from the Great Depression.

The United States, in inflation has come down during the Reagan administration—a truly happy development.

Then why haven't interest rates declined? This is a question the administration and Congress should address with great urgency.

The administration can't long enjoy broad public support and accomplish good things in many areas, if the economy slides downward under the impact of high interest rates.

President, Eagle Park Action Committee

Says 'irresponsibility' cause of city's financial problems

To the Editor:

In November, President Reagan said that one campaign promise to cut taxes, and won. Some calling it a mandate from the people. His proposed budget for the coming year is noticeable spending cuts to accompany the tax cuts.

First time in 20 years, the Federal government, for the first time in 20 years, recognized and acted, both Republican and Democrat alike, that the people deserve and need a break and are making an attempt to produce one. But in Granite City, things are different. Slow business, high unemployment, and a greater than average recession, along with a long, slow, population decrease have all contributed to a financial strain on our city.

This is not very hard to understand. What is amazing, however, is the response of our major city government.

First, I am amazed at the obvious ignorance of officials here about the situation until a crisis was reached and the well was dry and bills could not be paid.

Where was our treasurer and other city officials whose job it is to control our money? Surely someone must have had some idea that we were spending more than we had.

Mayor said during his campaign that the city was in good shape in response to his critics. The critics were right.

Obviously, the mayor either lied or he knew the state of the situation, and in either case I can give him no future confidence. I will assume that he did not lie, (which is quite an assumption) but he should have been aware of the situation. That is his job, and he has failed.

And what of the proposed solutions? The mayor does not seem to know what to do. First he tried to roll back salaries. Those contracts were just signed last year. Things have not changed that much in only one year.

We could not afford the increase last year any more than this year, but the mayor went along because it was an election year and needed the support of the city workers. He would have to disclose our money problems before the election to have prevented the increase, and would have to avoid that at all costs.

After the rollbacks were ruled out, the solutions turned to tax increases, and not if we should or should not have one, but simply what kind(s), and how much.

Even though our President was elected partly on the basis of a tax cut, even though GC residents turned down an increase in tax for the schools in November, and even though our neighbor, St. Clair County, won't spring for a puny one-fourth percent increase in property tax, our mayor and council not only want a utility tax (which may or may not be existing industry, but surely will dislocate new industry from locating here). Not only do they want an increase in property tax rates (which they say have not been increased in a number of years), but they want a tax which produces more revenue. On top of that they want to institute a city sales tax.

The hole in the city's budget is so deep that three different tax increases are needed to get them out. And they are not sure that they will do the job. This situation is unbelievable. Do you have solutions? No! I don't, but as a resident and taxpayer, I do have a few ideas.

1) A full investigation into why the budget that was proposed and accepted last year was so far off.

2) A full investigation into why the mayor's approval has nearly two million dollars short, about 20 percent off. I have heard no reasonable explanation why the budget was off that much, or why no one realized the problem sooner. Was more income expected? Less spending? Who knows? No acceptable answers have been given.

2) A second investigation into why it wasn't realized sooner. If the budget is two million off for the year, wasn't it one million off for six months, or 1/2 million for nine months, or 1/3 million for 12 months? Is there no regular reporting of the city's finances? Nothing was said or done until bills could not be paid. Where were the "qualified" people who were elected to run our city and handle our money. Once again, no answers have been given.

3) Hold off on all tax increases. Let's see where we are. Cut the city expenses for one year to operate at a level of the present income. I am not against a tax increase if needed, nor do I believe that industry is against a utility tax if needed, but our city government has shown such irresponsibility that I would not want to just throw money to solve a problem that they allowed to develop and dropped on us like a ton of bricks. I want to see fiscal responsibility first, and then I will support any tax increase if the service our city is performing to the best of its ability with the money it has is not enough, then we increase taxes.

The people of Granite City deserve a responsible government. We have obviously not gotten one. To sit back now and silently shell out additional tax money would simply be a stamp of approval to the fiscal irresponsibility that our city government has shown.

I urge all residents to stand up and be counted. Do not sit back and watch our city officials decide which way they should use more money, but instead, let them to make the best use of what is now coming in. It is our money, and our city, and any one who believes that our city is running efficiently has not been to city hall and looked around.

A CONCERNED RESIDENT

Avoid lone transmitter of data also vying to write it

Post-Dispatch comment—Approval by the Senate Commerce Committee of a bill deregulating major segments of the nation's telecommunications industry suggests that a dispute, who is writing the bill, is about to be joined in Washington.

The disputants are involved on two fronts.

In the arena of the courts, the Justice Department in a seven-year-old suit, biggest anti-trust case in history, has been seeking to have the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. broken up into smaller companies on the ground that AT&T has been engaged in a pattern of monopolistic practices designed to stifle competition.

On the legislative front, Congress since 1976 has been considering deregulation legislation allowing the entry of competitors by the Federal Communications Commission, to compete in unregulated fields through a subsidiary.

The White House supports the "general thrust" of the Commerce Committee bill. President Reagan's closest advisers are urging him to order the dropping of the Justice Department's suit.

If the suit is dropped, which would be contrary to a Justice Department recommendation, the legislation pending in Congress would assume still more importance.

This means that the Senate bill, although a compromise measure approved 16-1 in the committee, should be scrutinized and the more carefully before a final draft is enacted.

The bill would, among other things, modify the government's 1956 consent decree (in an earlier anti-trust suit) in which AT&T agreed not to "provide unregulated service."

The measure would let AT&T establish a subsidiary to offer high-technology, computer-based telecommunications services such as data processing and the storage and transmission of electronic information.

But under a committee-approved amendment—supported by newspaper publishers, who are vying for a special interest—AT&T and its subsidiaries would be barred from the most part from generating information to be transmitted.

And they would be limited to transmitting such data as time, weather, basic white pages directory information and a bare-bones version of the yellow pages.

Primary reason for the limits—which can be defended from public interest standpoint—would be to prevent AT&T from using its enormous financial power to monopolize the processing of such data as stock market prices, movie listings and, perhaps, news.

Yet even the compromise committee must face opponents, including some of AT&T's competitors, and Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., the only committee member to vote against the bill.

Sen. Hollings unsuccessfully offered amendments that would have required at least 10 percent of the subsidiary's stock to be owned by outside investors. That would have barred the subsidiary from owning its own transmission facilities until there was effective competition for the services those facilities support.

Sen. Hollings argued, with considerable logic, that the bill was not drawn sharply enough to guard against anti-competitive behavior by AT&T and its new division.

As the largest company in the world, with tremendous resources, AT&T, he argued, could neglect its regulated facilities to pour research money into technological innovations for the unregulated subsidiary and eventually crush its competitors.

With the telecommunications industry accounting for a $300 billion market, the stakes are very high.

Obviously, therefore, Congress should handle deregulation in this field with a clear objective of ensuring competition.

Tax law encourages investment

To the Editor:

In action sure to be recorded as a watershed in American history, strong bipartisan majorities in Congress have approved the president's program for economic recovery.

The flood of news and comment from the capital boils down to this:

Congress is able to conduct a two-front campaign to get control of the size of government. Congress has the will to enact substantial tax cuts and, at the same time, to get a handle on government spending.

One of the difficult choices required to reduce projected spending by $35 billion next year, tax relief would be to cut the size of government.

Without the difficult choices required to reduce projected spending by $35 billion next year, tax relief would have ballooned the deficit and sparked new inflationary pressures in an economy that badly needs relief from the weight of ever-rising federal budgets.

And without multi-year tax cuts for individuals and businesses, the spending reductions could have eased the pressure on the deficit—done nothing would have been done to encourage Americans to make the savings and investment decisions required to rebuild our economic strength in the years ahead.

The high points of the tax reduction plan sought by the president and approved by both the Senate and House:

(1) Across-the-board individual rate cuts of five percent effective Oct. 1, 1981, and 10 percent effective July 1, 1983.

(2) The percentage rate cuts will be applied equally in every income bracket.

(3) Beginning in 1985, tax brackets will be indexed to inflation, so that taxpayers are protected from unlegislated tax increases that push them into higher tax brackets.

(4) Provisions for business will allow much faster depreciation of investment, longer tax rates and simplified inventory accounting rules for small businesses.

(5) Measures to virtually eliminate the estate taxes that bear so heavily on farms and small businesses, to encourage individual savings, to liberalize provisions for individual retirement accounts (IRAs) and Keogh plans for the self-employed, and to reduce the so-called marriage penalty.

On the spending side, a massive budget reconciliation bill passed to conference camps months of work in both the Senate and House on literally hundreds of individual federal programs.

The bottom line will be a fiscal year 1982 budget trimmed by $35 billion.

The decisions made by Congress are not perfect. Nor will they effect an overnight cure in economic ailments that have festered for years.

What has been accomplished—and this is the measure—is that the nation has turned decisively away from the path of ever-higher spending, ever-higher taxes and ever-growing government.

It has turned toward an economic strategy consciously designed to encourage individual savings and investment and growth in the private sector of our economy.

U.S. SENATOR JACK DANFORTH

Protect U.S. technology against thefts by large, hostile countries

To the Editor:

Throughout recorded history, there have been examples of how intelligence gathering has influenced not only warfare but economics.

Foreign intelligence efforts within the United States center upon technological, political, and scientific intelligence.

Hostile intelligence gathers have a strong interest in technological secrets, especially computers, microelectronics, fiber optics, and lasers.

Much of this information, in an open society like ours, is available through public libraries, trade associations and reports and studies of institutions, as it should be.

The technology transfer also involves the proprietary information developed at considerable cost in the transmission of our technology to Soviet-bloc countries, penetration of computer systems, and compromise of employees.

We know that foreign intelligence operatives have been specifically tasked to steal this technology.

A former intelligence officer of a Communist country has reported to us that his whole operation spent a year devising an approach to get coding keys used for access to a particular computer brain.

He said that a Communist defector testified: "...the United States is the object of the greatest possible ... technical (technology) intelligence (effort), to which the Communist regimes ... devote extensive attention."

Not too long ago, representatives of an Eastern European intelligence service offered an American automotive engineer at a large U.S. firm approximately $200,000 to assist with the theft of a patented design.

The process which had cost the company millions of dollars to put into production.

Clark Oil & Refining Co. of St. Louis announced this week that members of those families owning 6,246,463 shares or 43.5 percent of the outstanding shares of Clark Oil & Refining have entered into a binding agreement with a subsidiary of Apex for the subsidiary to purchase their software legitimately, he attempted to pay a half million dollars to an undercover FBI agent in order to get the information.

He was arrested and later pleaded guilty to violating the Export Administration Act.

In addition to the 1,900 Soviet-bloc officials in this country, 65,000 Communist bloc visitors come to the United States each year.

Many joint scientific and professional associations and student trade conventions to learn what is there for all to read.

There is nothing unlawful about this, but we want it to be illegal. The free exchange of such open information is a fundamental of democracy.

There is, however, a considerable threat posed when foreign agents either steal or corrupt an employee to steal this data for money.

APEX WILL ACQUIRE CLARK OIL CONTROL

Clark Oil & Refining Corp. and a representative of the families of Emory T. Clark and Daniel H. Clark, Apex Oil Co. of St. Louis announced this week that members of those families owning 6,246,463 shares or 43.5 percent of the outstanding shares of Clark Oil & Refining have entered into a binding agreement with a subsidiary of Apex for the subsidiary to purchase their shares for $37 per share.

Apex presently owns through a subsidiary 1,430,000 shares or 9.9 percent of the outstanding Clark common stock.

The agreement also provides that, prior to its purchase of the Clark and Daniel H. Clark shares, Apex will make a tender offer for any and all of the remaining shares of the company at $37.

Foot patrols obsolete, dangerous

To the Editor:

I and several people I have talked to are most concerned over the police protection in the City of Madison since a "walking patrol" has been assigned exclusively to the Fifth Ward, seven nights a week from 9 p.m. until early morning, 1 a.m. or 2 a.m.

This leaves only one policeman to patrol and protect the other four wards from burglaries and other crimes.

It is my understanding that this was ordered by Mayor Mike Sasyk, who since he has been mayor has reduced the size of the police.

There is trouble in the Fifth Ward. You can read about it frequently.

But why does not the mayor, who is also liquor license commissioner, close down the tavern where all the trouble is? Could it be the tavern owner has too much political power?

A walking patrol is dangerous for police in any area—especially a lone white officer in an all-black

First, Second, Third and Fourth wards, not just the Fifth Ward.

People are quick to blame the police and the chief, but the situation deserves a hard look at who is really the boss in the city.

Why is the Fifth Ward so special? Do they pay more for the police in most of the wards? Let's have equal protection.

Foot patrols are obsolete and dangerous in this day and age, and any knowledgeable police officer will tell you that.

Trips have 'good spot' in tourney

MARISSA — For Tri-City Manager Eldon Warfield, the third time might just be the charm.

Warfield's Triplets were to have tangled with District 22 champion Marissa here this afternoon in the first round of the double-elimination Fifth Division American Legion Baseball Tournament.

And no matter what the outcome, the Triplets will play again. If they won, they'd face Mt. Carmel (16-17) tonight at 8 o'clock. This afternoon's other game pitted Harrisburg () against Steeleville ().

Going into this afternoon's contest, Tri-City Manager Warfield was doing some pretty heavy thinking. Should he start his best pitcher against Marissa in the opener or save him for the second game.

"It's kind of hard to figure," said Warfield. "If you're going to lose a game, it's really better to lose the first one," he said. "If you lose the second game, it's a longer way back out of the loser's bracket into the championship game."

Revenge was on the Triplets' minds this afternoon no doubt. After all, Marissa beat them 10-4 last Saturday for the District 22 championship (Marissa was the South Division champ, Tri-City captured the North Division championship). But because Marissa gets an automatic berth in the Fifth Division Tournament since it's the host team, the District 22 runnerup also advanced, since that's who Marissa was due to play in the first round.

"It's like this," offered Warfield. "You've got to play them one game at a time. But we know Marissa pretty well by now. I'm sure they're looking at Mt. Carmel pretty hard right now too."

Mt. Carmel is the surprise team of the tournament. Sporting a record of only 16-17, the team from Southeastern Illinois did away with powerful Carlyle in two straight playoff games to win the championship of District 23.

Press-Record Sports Field looks tough in Fifth Division

MARISSA — Harrisburg and Steeleville bring impressive records and momentum from exciting District playoffs into the Fifth Division American Legion Baseball Tournament that began this afternoon here.

Harrisburg, the District 25 champion, and Steeleville, the winner in District 24, join District 22 champion Marissa and runnerup Granite City (Tri-City) at the tournament. The winner of Sunday's Fifth Division championship game will advance to the State Legion Tournament next week in Waukegan.

Steeleville (28-8) comes out of the district with perhaps the most fierce competition in the division besides District 22. It advanced to the Division Tournament by outlasting Anna, Carbondale and DuQuoin in the District semifinals and finals. It defeated Anna 9-2 in Monday's District 25 championship game.

Steeleville is led by second baseman Scott Bridges, who saw considerable action this past spring on the varsity at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale under the coaching of Richard "Itchy" Jones. Bridges, who was a Press-Record All-Star Team selection in both basketball and baseball his senior year at Chester High School, is hitting a sizzling .486. Pitcher-third baseman Gary Boekhorn is hitting .359 and centerfielder Luther Saxon is batting .291.

Boekhorn also paces the pitching department for Steeleville. His record is 9-1 and he was the winning pitcher in the District title game against Anna. Other pitchers of note are Time Gasser (6-1), Rob Draves (6-2) and Ron Cushman (2-1).

Harrisburg (29-18) is coming off a romp in the District 24 championship game Monday night. It bombed Carmi 16-1 for the title.

Harrisburg is led in hitting by shortstop Brad Lee who's hitting .389. Left fielder Joe Thompson is hitting .345 and catcher Brent Logeman is hitting .320.

Joe Swan leads Harrisburg's pitchers with an 8-2 record. But it was Ron Schmitt (7-4) who put the dampers on Carmi in the District title game with a one-hitter. Jeff Jones (5-3) is the other Harrisburg pitcher of note.

Today's pairings included Granite City against Marissa at 1 p.m., Steeleville against Harrisburg at 4 p.m. and Mt. Carmel against the winner of the Granite City-Marissa game at 6 p.m.

South stars are brighter

By JEFF WILSON
For the Press-Record
MARISSA — Winners and losers in the North-South District 22 American Legion All-Star Game Tuesday night, which the South won 14-8, had a similar demeanor after the game. Players and coaches on both sides were smiling.

The two biggest smiles from the coaching ranks could be found on the face of Waterloo coach Sher Voley and Marissa coach Kent Volert, re-resentatives from each of their teams figured heavily in the high-scoring contest.

"With all the guys there, I knew we had to get some runs," Roy said. "It's great. It feels pretty good to know my guys helped get them."

With the score 6-5 in favor of the North, going into the top of the seventh, Waterloo's Dave Dillenberger led off with a walk. Walks to Cahokia's Tim Stanberry and Marissa's Terry Pritchford loaded the bases.

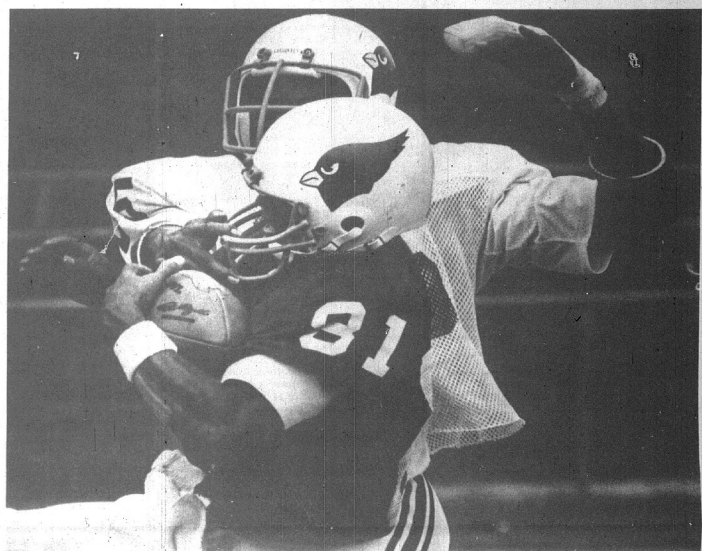

After striking out Marissa's Kevin Pour swinging, Alton's Gordon Green served up what appeared to be an easy double-play ball. But the ball hit by Waterloo's Chris Shadowens was fielded by third baseman Dan Jones who threw home on the smash and hit Dillenberger on the head with the ball. Two runs scored.

Waterloo's Mike Roy deposited Green's next pitch down the rightfield line for a three-run home run and a 10-6 South lead. It was all the South needed to win the game.

"It's a game of inches. If he (Jones) had made that play at third base we'd have been in good shape," Collinsville coach Fred McClary said.

In the eighth inning, the final four runs came off the bat of Marissa's Pour. For the second time in as many innings, Pour batted with the bases loaded. In the seventh, he struck out. In the eighth, however, he wouldn't be denied. He hit a pitch by Collinsville's Rod Woods

Corral inches even closer

By RICK WELLE
For the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The Corral Liquor Cowboys took one giant step toward another Inter-City League regular-season championship Tuesday night by simply marking time.

The Cowboys split a league double-header with the Maryville Red Sox, currently in second place in the standings. Corral won the first game, 6-2, but the Red Sox came back in the nightcap and won, 8-3.

MARYVILLE, currently 10-7, has three games left in the regular season all against the league-leading Cowboys. Corral is now 14-3, but in addition to the three games against Maryville, also has a double-header scheduled against McDonald's, currently in third place.

By simply splitting with Maryville, the Cowboys have all but assured themselves first place in the season standings.

"I think we're going to win the league. It's just a matter of time," said Ken Crawford, Corral's manager.

HE WAS PLEASED overall with his team's performance in the first game, but the second game was a different story. "We just didn't play too well," he said. "It's hard to keep 'em up when you're winning a lot. But that's just baseball." Maryville's Glen Murphy stole the show in the second game. In addition to holding the powerful Cowboy bats to just three runs, Murphy drilled a two-run homer into left to lift his team to a 6-2 lead.

"I'M DYING," Murphy said after the game, perspiration beading on his face on the hot, humid night. "I probably won't get out of bed tomorrow." He said Crawford, who went the distance on the mound for Corral, made a mistake on a 2-0 fastball and let it get up into his eyes.

Murphy was working on a short rest. He went the distance Sunday against McDonald's in Maryville's 4-3 loss at Granite City. Tuesday night he looked ex-

The better-known faces were there yesterday at the St. Louis Cardinals' pre-season training camp at Lindenwood College in St. Charles, as the Big Red prepared for their first pre-season game this Saturday in San Diego. At left, Cardinal offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf watches from the sidelines. Above, quarterback Jim Hart stretches during warmup.

Alton stars to Cougars

EDWARDSVILLE — Two of Alton High School's premier track and field performers, David Eichen and Steve Love, have signed National Letters of Intent with the running Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, according to Head Coach John Flamer.

Eichen, who earned a berth in the 1980-81 Illinois High School State Championship meet as a discus thrower, gives the Cougars one of the top weight men in the area. The champion of the Southwest Conference, Eichen also took home championship honors in the Mineral area meet, the Alton Invitational and the west Frankfort Relays. His top throw, 152'6", earned him a qualification to the State Championships last season. He is also expected to give the Cougars additional strength in the shot put. As a senior, Eichen turned in a throw of 55'5", one of the best in the area.

Love, who helped the Alton Redbirds qualify for the Illinois High School Cross Country Championships, is expected to give the Cougars an additional boost in the distance events. Finishing second in the District meet last year with a time of 14:04 in the three-mile event, Love has already recorded an impressive 32:00 in the collegiate 10,000 meter distance. Although signing a track and field letter of intent, Love will also make a strong run at one of the top five positions on the SIUE cross country team.

Coach Flamer and his cross country team open their 1981 campaign Sept. 12, when they travel to Kirksville, Mo. to compete in the Northeast Missouri State University Invitational. The Cougars' first home meet of the season is set for Sept. 19, as SIUE hosts the 1981 TFA-USA Cross Country Championships.

by Harold Chitwood

Paying cash is usually the least expensive way to buy a car. However, anyone who is fortunate enough to be earning more than the current APR on invested funds does not have to be told that a car loan will be more economical than wiping out the investment. Companies that need cars for business purposes often discover that leasing is a more economical than buying because of alternative use of the funds. In addition, with leasing, the company does not have the problem of disposing of these vehicles at the end of their useful, economic lives.

If you are in the market for a new car now is the ideal time to buy and BIG 4 CHEVROLET COMPANY invites you to come see us at 1820 Vandalia Street in Collinsville. We promise you reliable service, a wide selection to choose from and honest prices. Our efficient office staff will take good care of all the details so you can relax. Our phone is 345-5444 and we are open Monday through Friday 7-6 and we stand behind everything we do.

AUTO TIP:

A full-maintenance lease offers maximum convenience and protects your budget against sudden disruptions.

South takes weighty step

GRANITE CITY — Jerry McKechnan doesn't let any grass grow under his feet.

McKechnan, the new head football coach at Granite City South, recognized one weakness in the school's athletic programs when he accepted the job last spring — no organized weight training program.

So, he did something about it.

The Universal Gym weight machine that the school had was in bad shape. Many years of physical education classes, athletic programs and other groups had left it in shambles.

So McKechnan and members of his football team went out and solicited funds for a new weight room at the school, to be used by all the athletic teams, male and female. And last week, the new weight room was unveiled. A special room, freshly painted, with $6,200 worth of weights and machines in it. At no cost to the Granite City School District. And $5,200 of it is already paid for by donations. "We've had the room open and some of the players have come in to work out on the machines," said McKechnan. "A strong weight program makes a lot of difference."

Among the additions to the program are a knee machine, a hip-leg machine, an upper body machine, thrust machine, incline bench, resistance machine, 600 pounds of Olympic weights and a dip bar. The machines are iso-kinetic full-range machines.

The following organizations made donations to the project:

Granite City South Boosters, $2,000; Granite City Jaycees $1,000; South Red Peppers Club, $1,000; Granite City Eagles, $500; Granite City Firefighters Union, $500; Granite City Rotary, $200.

purchased with funds from donations. The $6,200 weights and machines were obtained at no cost to the school district. At left, Dave Brown uses the new knee machine. At right, Tom Adamitis strengthens his upper body with the shoulder machine. The new weights will be available to all South athletes.

over the 365-foot mark for a grand-slam home run.

The game started off with the North scoring one run in the first inning. Pat Morrissey of Alton walked, stole second and went to third on a wild pitch. A groundout by East Alton's Randy Gibbs brought Morrissey home.

The South countered with two runs in the second inning. Singles by Roy and Belleville's Terry Dobs and a groundout by Chahokia's Dave Wilkerson accounted for the two runs.

In the fourth inning, Dobs singled again for the South and scored on a balk and a wild pitch by Green. Reed Hellman from Edwardsville started on the mound for the North and worked the first three innings.

The South took a 5-1 lead when Marissa's Mark Schulte hit a two-run homer with one out in the fifth. But the North didn't roll over.

In the sixth, two-out singles by Collinsville's Todd Miller, Gibbs and Jones accounted for one North run. Bethalto's Paul Standeffer reached on an error and a second sixth-inning run scored. The North kept coming at the South in the seventh inning. Woods led off with a walk and scored on a three-base throwing error by Dillenberger.

A one-out walk to Alton's

Rusty Meyers set the stage for Miller who singled to left, driving in two runs and making the score 6-5.

After stealing second base, Miller was thrown out at the plate on a perfect throw by leftfielder Pour after Jones' single.

The leading hitters for the South were: Shulte, two-for-three with a double, home run and two RBI; Pour, one-for-two with a grand-slam; Roy, three-for-five with two singles, a home run, a stolen base, two runs scored and three RBI; Dobs, two-for-two with two singles, a stolen base and two runs scored.

The leading hitters for the North were: Miller, two-for-two with two singles, a stolen base, one run scored and two RBI; Gibbs, one-for-two with a double and one RBI; Jones, three-for-four with three singles and one RBI.

GAME NOTES: Playing for the North Division from Granite City were catcher Daren DePew, first baseman Dan Patterson, centerfielder Bob Ford and pitcher Keith Burton who was used as a designated hitter but did not see action on the mound. DePew was 0-2 at the plate. Patterson was 0-2. Ford played five innings and was one-for-two with a double and two with two singles, a stolen base as a designated hitter and was 0-4 but scored one run. It cost each of the coaches $2 each to get into the ballpark Tuesday night.

ceptionally strong, his only real mistake being a high fastball that Mike Clark blasted well over the left field fence in the third inning.

THE RED SOX scored two in the first on three hits, single runs in the second and fifth and two on Murphy's homer in the sixth. Dan Bixler doubled home two runs in the seventh.

Corral's big threat came in the fifth. Consecutive singles by Mark and Mike Clark and Doug Rains sent home one run, and a two-out walk to Dave Hagenbrock loaded the bases. Murphy got out of the inning, however, when he forced John Krekovich to pop out to center field.

Hearings on 5% tax levy boosts

Governor James R. Thompson announced Monday that all taxing districts within the state have been notified of their obligations under the Truth-in-Taxation Act, which he signed into law on July 29.

"This reform will make local governments even more accountable to their citizens," Thompson said.

"It requires any district proposing to increase its levy by more than five percent of the prior year's extension, except for election costs, to publish a notice of the planned increase and to conduct public hearings."

"At the hearing, the district must explain the reason for the proposed increase and permit people the opportunity to speak on the matter."

"The tax levy cannot be extended unless these requirements are met," the governor said.

The Illinois Department of Revenue informed the districts of the Truth-in-Taxation Act's requirements on July 31.

Director J. Thomas Johnson said the law culminated three years of planning, research, and legislative initiatives. "This gives taxpayers in local government districts taxation with representation," Johnson commented.

The Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA) will handle all questions regarding the act through its Office of Local Management Services at 27889.

DCCA Director John W. Castle said, "This legislation — coupled with the Governor's Cost Cutter's Program for local governments, and other initiatives — goes a long way in giving Illinois one of the most accountable and responsive taxing climates in the country."

GC park preschool registration starts

Registration for the Granite City Park District Preschool Program will start at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 11, at the Wilson Park office.

Any child who is 3 years old before Dec. 31, 1981, is eligible, with those living in the park district given priority.

Non-residents will be placed on a waiting list and will be called after Sept. 9, if vacancies occur.

There will be no new class in January, as in previous years, as the program will now use the same guidelines as the public schools, according to Harold Brown, park district director.

At the time of registration it is necessary to bring the child's birth certificate and proof of residence in the park district.

Classes are free for children whose parents are park district residents except for a $5 insurance fee that is mandatory and 50 cents each day they attend to cover the cost of juice and cookies.

Non-residents are required to pay the same fees, as well as a $7.50 non-resident fee, Brown said. All fees to be paid on the first day of school.

Children will attend either two morning sessions or two afternoon sessions per week. Mrs. Janis Patton and Mrs. Lynn McClain, both certified teachers, are in charge of the 1981-82 Preschool Program.

Services for Benjamin Price

Services for Benjamin D. Price, 54, of Granite City, were held at 1 p.m. Tuesday at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road.

Mr. Price died at 12:15 a.m. Monday, Aug. 3, 1981, at The Columbian, where he was a patient one week. He had been ill the past year.

The World War II Navy veteran had been a local resident for 30 years. He was a native of Beaufort, N. C.

Mr. Price was employed 30 years as a truck driver for Taracorp Industries here.

Economic upsurge ahead for this region—governor

Governor James R. Thompson said during the weekend his administration is committed to economic revitalization of the Madison-St. Clair counties area, citing several on-going economic development programs.

He noted that the state is a co-applicant with the City of East St. Louis for a $3.2 million grant to rehabilitate an industrial corridor in that city.

"The chances for approval of the grant look very good to us," the governor said. "I am extremely confident that we will have the necessary resources to work with the city on substantial improvement of the corridor."

The governor also pointed out that the state is a co-applicant with the City of East St. Louis for a $3.2 million grant to rehabilitate an industrial corridor in that city.

Hope to ease regulation of small firms

Governor James R. Thompson this week announced the creation of a Small Business Regulatory Task Force to identify areas of state regulatory burden and to work with state agencies to reduce regulatory compliance requirements.

"Small business is a vital part of the Illinois economy," the governor said, "and provides 80 percent of the state's employment opportunities."

"We are committed to the growth and maintenance of the small business sector, and this is an area where we can provide sorely needed help to the small business community."

Organizations represented on the regulatory task force include the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Illinois Manufacturers Association, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, Associated Employers of Illinois, Independent Business Association of Illinois, Independent Accountants Association of Illinois, Chicago Organization of Women Business Owners, North River Business and Industrial Council and National Federation of Independent Business, Illinois Chapter.

Pete Censky, manager of the Office of Business Services in the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), said the task force will identify areas of regulatory burden and then work with state government agencies to facilitate regulatory compliance and alter unnecessary or complicated regulatory provisions.

The task force also will have input into the creation of any new regulations that may be deemed necessary in the future. DCCA will coordinate the activity of the task force.

Animal rabies worse in state

The number of confirmed cases of animal rabies in Illinois continues to climb, and is now running about 24 percent higher than at this same time last year.

William L. Kempiners, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, said 416 animals, from 55 of the state's 102 counties, have been confirmed as rabid this year.

"At this same time last year, the total was 335, and 1980 set an all-time record high for animal rabies in Illinois," he said.

Two of the most recent confirmed rabid animals were a bat in Sangamon County and a dog in St. Clair County. The bat was the first confirmed case of animal rabies in Sangamon County this year, and the dog was St. Clair's second rabid animal this year.

The number of Illinois residents who have been provided with rabies vaccine by the state health department has risen from 242 at this time last year to 344 this year.

There have been no cases of human rabies in Illinois since 1954.

During all of last year, 524 cases of animal rabies were confirmed in Illinois. The previous high was in 1945, when 477 cases were confirmed.

In 1979, 227 cases were confirmed; 76 in 1978; 54 in 1977; and 55 in 1976.

Although statistics are still the most common rabid animal — 349 out of 416 — 25 cattle and 12 cats have been confirmed rabid this year, as compared with 29 rabid cattle and 11 rabid cats in all of 1980.

Skunks are thought to be the source of rabies infection for domestic animals.

Kempiners said, "Rabid domestic animals are a cause of concern."

"Since people have more contact with domestic animals than with wild ones, there is a greater risk of human exposure to rabies as the number of rabid domestic animals increases."

"Rabid cattle pose a special problem, in that farmers and veterinarians frequently become exposed to the saliva of a sick animal before they realize the animal has rabies."

"I urge that residents in all parts of the state make certain their pet dogs and cats — especially farm pets — have been immunized against rabies."

Students swell unemployment level in GC to 12.8 percent

Unemployment in Granite City followed a traditional pattern in June, rising because of the large influx of students into the labor force at the close of school, according to monthly figures released this week by the Illinois Department of Labor.

Granite City's unemployment rate climbed from 12.2 percent in May to 12.8 percent in June, while the total labor force climbed from 18,851 to 19,171, according to figures compiled by R.L. Worden of the research and analysis division of the Department of Labor. The city's unemployment rate is higher than the average for Madison County of 10.6 percent.

Other major cities in this area also showed increases in unemployment in June, Worden's report notes. Alton's unemployment climbed from 11 percent in May to 12.2 percent in June. Belleville noted an increase from 13.1 percent to 13.8 percent and unemployment in East St. Louis climbed from 11.4 percent to 11.7 percent.

In the overall seven-county area studied by Worden, the unemployment rate was 10.4 percent. Out of a labor force of 274,214 in Bond, Calhoun, Clinton, Jersey, Madison, Monroe and St. Clair counties, 245,718 were employed, while 28,496 were seeking work, the report shows.

In Madison County, 104,857 persons were employed in June out of a workforce of 117,308, leaving 12,451 persons unemployed.

In Granite City, the number of unemployed grew from 2,299 in May to 2,336 in June, Worden noted.

Industry offers to help city balance its budget

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

When it was intended to be a group of city officials and citizens who were to visit local industries to discuss possible excess taxation, it was called a "Blue Ribbon Committee."

When it is intended to be a group of industrial experts visiting the city to determine ways to avoid unpleasant taxes, it is being called a "Task Force."

Whatever name it is called, both the city and local industry would like to form a group of some sort to study the city's financial situation and determine how Granite City can balance its budget without imposing taxes which will have a serious financial impact on industry.

While budget considerations were still underway and Mayor Paul Schuler predicted that a utility tax may be the only way to keep the city solvent this fiscal year, the aldermen suggested creation of a blue ribbon committee to visit local industries and find out what type of taxation would have the least financial impact on the industries.

That committee was never formed. When Mayor Schuler went on vacation, Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the council's finance committee, took it on himself to visit the five largest industries and gather their views on a proposed utility tax.

He brought back the strong message that industry did not want such a tax; that it would harm their competitive position, and that some might consider closing and moving if a utility tax was imposed.

He said all the industries expressed a strong desire to aid the city in any way possible in solving its financial problems without having a utility tax imposed.

Bowler came under some criticism by other aldermen, who said he was not authorized to make such visits, but should have waited until the proposed blue ribbon committee was formed.

The issue was dropped and the budget increase in bus fare defeated.

Bi-State Transit System bus fares will remain 50 cents for the time being, but a new effort to boost them to 60 cents is expected to be made this fall.

An $857,000 increase proposal for the 1981-82 year last Friday when there was a 2-3 split among Missouri commissioners of the Bi-State Development Agency board.

Illinois commissioners supported the fare hike 3-1, but actions are limited to those receiving majority support from both states. There are five from each state on the board.

The basic fare would have risen a dime, with express fares rising a nickel, from 75 to 80 cents, as of Aug. 24. Instead, neither will change.

Anticipating approval of higher fares, Bi-State budget analysts had included revenue from the proposal in the bus system's $81 million budget.

Those opposed to the increase were Roy J. May of Waterloo, Ora Lee Malone of St. Louis and Dempster K. Holland of Webster Groves. The latter commented, "It's time to stop hurting the little guy" in determining basic living costs.

Supporting the plan were Carl Mathias of Granite City, Robert Schrimpf of Alton, James Nations of Fairview Heights, Cassell Williams of Normandy and Guy Jaffe of St. Louis. Absent were Authur Adams of East St. Louis and Michael Aubuchon of Sappington.

Holland said he would support higher fares when cutbacks are made in the bus system's central administrative structure.

May noted that, of the revenue collected by St. Louis and St. Louis County from half-cent transportation engineering, manpower analysis and management services, (computer processing).

"We would be hopeful that other industries in the Granite City area would also be willing to offer their support to this type endeavor by providing personnel to participate in the task force."

"Once the problems and the reasons they occurred are clearly identified, necessary steps could be implemented to improve the overall efficiency of the city operations with the goal of reducing costs to a level consistent with the city's anticipated income," Seabolt said.

Alderman Paul Fisk noted that he had invited representatives of the industries in the city to attend Tuesday night's city council meeting, but none appeared.

"We asked industry to meet with this council as a whole. I would like to sit here and listen to industry myself so I know what they have to say," Fisk noted.

Alderman Carl Kittel said the offer of Granite City Steel does not solve the immediate problems the city is facing.

"The problem is and will be money, regardless of how many personnel we cut or how much help we get (from industry),"

Mayor Schuler commented, "I don't know exactly what kind of participation Granite City Steel is volunteering. I'm sure they have some expertise in financing. Let's take a look at it, but we have a job to do (pass the budget) and let's do it tonight and then have a little breathing room to find out where the funds (needed to support the budget) are coming from. Maybe that's what they are offering to help with."

Alderman Everett Morlen suggested, "Let's pass the budget. We then have until September to come up with the money. We can have a special meeting on this (Granite City Steel offer) later."

The council voted to place Seabolt's letter on file and proceeded to pass the budget.

GC Fire Department is honored by County Firemen's Association

The Madison County Firemen's Association has selected the Granite City Fire Department as its Fire Department of the Month.

A history of the development and its equipment is included in the MCFA's regular publication, which is sent to all members.

Following is that history.

Granite City was incorporated as a city on March 9, 1896. The population at this time was 992. A volunteer fire department was established and the only equipment available at this time was a man-powered hose cart. The man responsible for forming the volunteer fire department was Fred Stegelmeyer, who would also be the first chief and would remain so for 16 of his 25 years as a member of the department.

Historical data available indicates that the first large fire was at the Continental Wire Works and the Drummond Box Factory (American Steel Co.). At this time the volunteer firemen received $1 a piece for answering alarms, regardless of the time required to put out fires, five minutes or five hours.

By 1920, the city became quite diversified, as heavy and light industry flourished and expanded so did residential and commercial building. The railroads and trucking industry also began more active as the community grew.

In 1921, the volunteer fire department was abolished as all-volunteer and became part-paid and part volunteer, the total complement at this time consisted of 10 volunteers and six paid men. The city by now had adopted civil service for firemen.

In 1922, the volunteers were totally abolished. A new station, apart from the one located at 19th and State streets, was constructed on the west side of town at Cayuga Street and Rock Road. This station was badly needed for fire protection due to the many delays and stoppages by trains at three railroad crossings.

During 1923, the first mechanized equipment was purchased. The city fathers voted to buy two American-LaFrance 500 GPM pumps. The latter part of the year also saw delivery of a new service truck.

Some interesting aspects discovered while researching the evolution of the fire department consisted of such things as: In 1939 the city's firemen, with the exception of Chicago, were the highest paid in the state of Illinois. All building permits were issued through the fire department. By 1941 there were 15 full-time firemen. The population grew to 29,000, industries were geared to full-time war production.

This brought even more people into the community. There was a service housing shortage and this brought about the first federally-subsidized housing projects. During the war years, the Corps of Engineers constructed a huge facility covering more than 900 acres. Huge warehouses several blocks long were erected.

In 1950, the city annexed the village of Nameoki, to the north. More men and equipment was needed to adequately serve this area. Another engine house was added. This house, the number 3 station, was located at 3900 Namoki Road. The men stationed here initially encountered some hostility from irate citizens and were often snubbed. Gradually, neighborhood children began to hang around the fire house and, before long, a more responsive attitude between the firemen and the public developed.

Also in 1950, working hours of the two platoon system consisted of a 72-hour work week, decreasing to 56 hours a week until 1956, when additional men were hired.

At the present time, a three platoon system is in effect and the hours are reduced to a 51-hour work week. The Firemen's Pension Fund was established in 1925. State law now requires that all firemen participate in the fund. All are required to pay 7 1/2 percent of their annual salary into the system.

By March of 1977, the manpower of the fire department was 48 men. Also in March of 1977, another important milestone was achieved, the fire department ambulance service was established. With the purchase of four Dodge van type vehicles and 20 emergency medical technicians and paramedics, the service began.

Presently, the response efforts of the service to approximately 3,816 ambulance responses. Telemetry equipment now has been purchased. Community involvement has been an important aspect of the fire department. Excellent support exists between the two groups.

Not only does the fire department respond to fires, it plays an active role in fire prevention, building inspections and school safety programs, appearing before fraternal and social groups and donating efforts to charitable causes.

A new rescue vehicle was purchased and put into service in August, 1980. The vehicle is a compartmentized one-ton, four-wheel-drive 1980 GMC manufactured by Emergency-One of Ocala, Fla.

All the latest rescue equipment, including a Hurst tool, is carried on this truck. Seventy-five percent of the cost will be reimbursed by the city from an Illinois Department of transportation grant. The total cost was in excess, including the communication equipment, of $40,000. The equipment operated by the Fire Department at the present time includes: two 1973 1500 GPM Seagraves pumps, one 1970 1250 GPM American LaFrance pumper, one 1980 1500 GPM Seagraves 50' Telequirt, one 1967 85' Seagraves Aerial, one 1964 1000 GPM Ford pumper, one 1980 GMC 4-wheel-drive rescue truck, three command cars and four 1977 Dodge van-type ambulances.

The officer roster of the fire department breaks down to a fire chief, an assistant fire chief, three shift commanders and nine captains.

The responsibilities and duties of the various ranks are outlined through the rules and regulations established by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, who are appointed for three-year terms by the mayor and city council.

There have been two firefighters who have died in the line of duty. One was killed in a collision on a pumper while responding to an alarm. The other man died while engaged in a fire-fighting situation. Other disabling injuries have occurred over a period of years requiring those involved to retire as a result.

Although all men are required by the department regulations to wear protective gear furnished by the department, injuries still occur, but precautions are always taken to minimize job-related injuries. Like other fire departments, they utilize non-conducting helmets, face shields, nomex type fire coats and turn out pants, fire retardant gloves, flashlights, spanner belts, hose rope tools, hip boots with steel immersors and spanner wrenches.

The firefighters belong to International Association of Firefighters Local 253, which serves as the bargaining agent with the city. An obviously good relationship exists between the city and the union which, over a period of years, has been successful in acquiring salary increases and other benefits such as paid hospitalization insurance, paid holidays, ample sick leave benefits, clothing allowance and nine kelly days annually.

The fire department budget for 1980-81 was in excess of $1.5 million.

In 1980, the fire department responded to 787 fire alarms and 3,816 ambulance responses. Fire pumps laid out a total of 40,000 feet of 2 1/2-inch and 1 1/2-inch hose. There were 32 on-duty injuries during the year (one serious, but non fatal).

The Fire Chief's Office is located in the headquarters station at 2300 Madison Avenue.

Venice board appoints Glasper as treasurer

Wilbert Glasper, a five-year member of the Venice Board of Education, has been appointed Venice School District treasurer.

Glasper, 31, will serve in the position without pay.

The appointment was made last week by the school board.

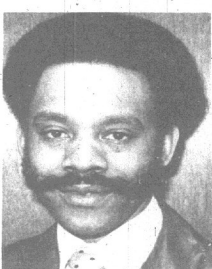

He succeeds the late Donald D. Phillips, who held the treasurer's post for 19 years.

Mr. Phillips, 70, died July 15 at home. He was not a member of the Venice School Board, but had been appointed treasurer on an annual basis since July 1, 1962, and had received a $185.50 monthly fee.

Glasper has served as board secretary on two occasions since he was first named to the school board in November 1976.

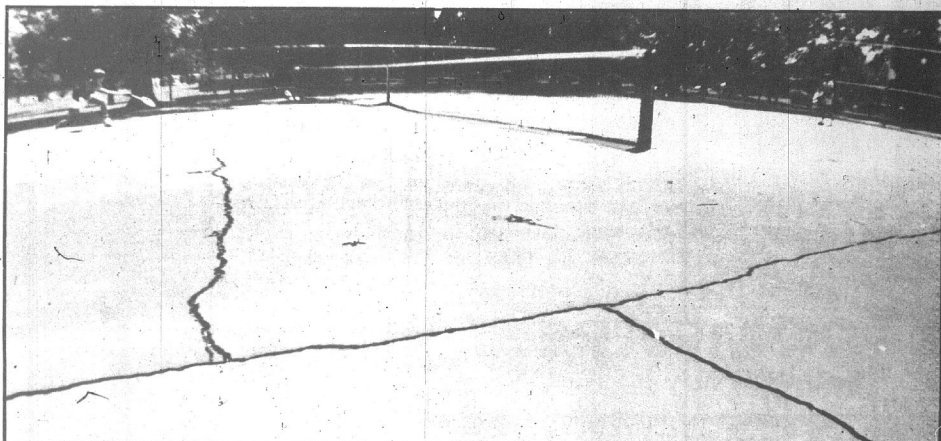

He is an electrician and a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 309, American Federation of Musicians, St. Louis Local 2-1377, Madison County Urban League, Canonite Royal Arch Masons Chapter 5 and New Hope Lodge 22 of Madison.

Glasper and his wife, Gussie, are the parents of a daughter, Tisha, and a son, Wilbert Jr. The family lives at 517 Fillmore Ave., Venice.

WILBERT GLASPER
Board Treasurer

The new school district treasurer is a 1968 graduate of Madison High School and attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for three years.

IT'S NOT AN EARTHQUAKE, but the four tennis courts in Wilson Park, resurfaced last fall, have been plagued with numerous cracks which are still widening. The park district has contacted C. D. Peters Construction Co., general contractors for the resurfacing project, about the problem and went on record as finding the work unacceptable. The district's engineer is to examine the cracks and make a recommendation as to what course of action to take for repair of the courts.

sales taxes, $21 million has been diverted from Bi-State. Interest on that amount alone would have made a bus fare increase unnecessary, he remarked.

Holland said the agency may have to go to court to seek diverted funds.

Nations said, "To be healthy, a bus system should raise 40 percent of its income from the fare box. We are currently at 26 percent."

In another matter, the board's long-range planning committee designated Price Waterhouse & Co. to do a $35,000 study of Bi-State Transit financial problems.

A contract for a similar study costing $40,000 was awarded to two Cambridge, Mass., firms two days earlier by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

Jaffe said Price Waterhouse will develop five-year revenue projections and, within two months, recommend preliminary remedial steps.

Meanwhile, Multisystems, Inc., and Management Analysis Center, Inc., will advise East-West on Bi-State's performance, managerial effectiveness and financial status.

The Rev. Thomas F. Zimmerman, chief executive of the Assemblies of God will be the guest speaker at the First Assembly of God Church, 244th Street and Grand Avenue, where he was the pastor from 1939 through 1942, it was announced by the Rev. C. Dale Edwards, current pastor. He will speak at the church at 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 16.

In addition to his church activities, the Rev. Zimmerman is a member of Rotary International, active in the Boy Scouts of America, holding the Silver Beaver award of the BSA, and is on the board of directors of the United Way and Junior Achievement in Springfield, Mo.

Rev. Zimmerman has been a member of the board of managers of the American Bible Society in New York since 1967.

The Rev. Zimmerman has been general superintendent of the Assemblies of God since 1960.

"The Assemblies of God is the largest of the Pentecostal denominations with a worldwide constituency of over 10 million. There are some 9,773 Assemblies of God churches in this country, with over one and a half million members and adherents. Members and adherents in 108 countries served by 1,253 Assemblies of God missionaries number 8,830,170."

The Rev. Zimmerman is president of the Assemblies of God Graduate School, located in the headquarters complex in Springfield. He is chairman of the board of directors of Central Bible College and a member of the board of Evangelical College, both in Springfield.

The denomination has 11 accredited colleges and a graduate school in this country and leads all other church groups overseas with 204 Bible training schools.

In addition to his leadership role in the Assemblies of God, the Rev. Zimmerman takes an active part in related organizations. He is past chairman of the Pentecostal Fellowship of North America, which is comprised of 24 Pentecostal church groups in the United States and Canada.

He was reelected chairman of the advisory committee for the current three-year term, which will climax with the 13th Pentecostal World Conference in Africa in 1982.

The Rev. Zimmerman is a member of the executive committee of the Lausanne Committee for World

REV. T. F. ZIMMERMAN

Evangelization, an outgrowth of the International Congress on World Evangelism which was held in Lausanne, Switzerland in 1974. He has served as chairman of the Planning Committee for the American Festival of Evangelism held in July, 1981.

The Rev. Zimmerman is also a member of the executive boards of the Evangelicals and the National Religious Broadcasters.

Modest gain in home sales during June

The severe depression in the resale market eased slightly in June, as sales of existing single-family homes nationwide rose six percent to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2,650,000 units.

Dr. Jack Carlson, executive vice-president and chief economist of the National Association of Realtors, said, "This gain, in the face of oppressive high interest rates, proves that the underlying demand for housing is strong, and that even a slight drop in mortgage interest rates could lead to a substantial housing recovery."

He added that adverse market conditions are still holding resale activity 35 percent below the peak level achieved in November 1978, making this by far the worst housing slump in the 13 years the association has kept resale statistics.

Resale activity during the first half of 1981 was at its lowest level in six years — 1,270,000 existing home sales, nearly 100,000 units below the same period last year.

Much of the June increase came from the South. Other regions are continuing to report low levels of transactions.

Carlson also blamed high mortgage interest rates for dampening the appreciation rate of home prices.

"While the median sales price of a resale property in June was $67,900, up $1,600 from the previous month," he said, "it was only 7.1 percent above the price level of the same month a year ago."

Resale prices are up around 8 percent this year. If this trend continues, 1981 will be the first year since 1973 that price appreciation has not been at a double-digit rate.

In addition, Carlson said, price increases this year are probably over-stated because of the widespread use of creative financing techniques in home sales. In order to facilitate the sale of a home, sellers are willing to help buyers by taking first and second mortgages and by providing other financial assistance.

The economist said the federal policy of fighting inflation solely by high interest rates must change in order for the housing industry to recover. Otherwise, only tax policy tied to thrift funds and housing can provide help during the next 18 months, he commented.

Recent acceptance by the Senate and the House Ways and Means Committee of a proposed tax-exempt savings certificate tied to housing is a step in the right direction, he added, and would allow depository institutions to attract savings at lower costs.

"Funds that now cost 14 percent would cost only 10 percent with the certificates," he said.

Airman Christopher R. Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Andrews, 261 Tennessee Ave., Granite City, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force munitions maintenance course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

Graduates of the course learned how to inspect, assemble and dispose of explosive munitions, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Andrews will now serve at Hill Air Force Base, Utah. His wife, Deanne, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bolling of 2161 Bern Ave., Granite City. He is a 1980 graduate of Granite City High School.

Holding pond poses problem

The drainage problem in the Wilshe-Lane area has become a major one and its time something is done about it, Mrs. Helen Hawkins, a trustee of the Nameoki Town Board has declared.

Mrs. Hawkins said the holding pond behind Ivy Lane floods almost every time it rains. She said there is no pump to pump the water out, and since the streets are actually lower than the pond, the excess water goes there.

She said the pond needs the following things:

- It needs to be pumped out often, keeping it dry.
- It needs to be dug deeper to allow water to before flooding.
- A pump or lift station should be installed.

"We pay taxes to use Nameoki Ditch. We need to get the water to the ditch," she said.

She said the city owns the sewers that Ivy Lane residents would have to tap onto to get the drainage they need.

Although Everett Steele built the subdivision, the zoning was approved and now "it's really out of his hands."

She said the problem has existed there for about 18 years and nothing has been done about it. "The former board signed contracts just before we took office to build several mini-parks and a tennis court. We have to have priorities. What's more important? Flooded streets or tennis courts," she said.

Most of the people there are in a high tax bracket and deserve something for their money," she said.

Mrs. Hawkins added the township really can't act on the holding pond until it's proved to be a health threat. That was determined, she thought money might be available from state emergency funds.

At last week's meeting, Carl Macious, an Ivy Lane resident, said he feared septic tanks had leaked into the pond creating a definite health problem. He was to take a sample of the water to the EPA water pollution office in Edwardsville this week.

Mrs. Hawkins wants to amend the budget passed by the lame-duck board. She said the township can't keep up the parks it has now, and really doesn't need any more. She would rather use the money appropriated for the tennis courts and parks and use it for the drainage problems.

"The contractors might bring suit against us since the contracts have already been signed," she said.

That's why she thinks the township is losing residents. They're annexing into the city because we're not providing the service needed, she said.

Vadalabene, honored by both parties, will seek re-election

By KARL MONROE

In case anybody had any doubts, Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) set them to rest at his "Salute to Sam" dinner Saturday night. He said, "No matter how the new district lines are drawn, there will be an election in 1982. Based upon the crowd in this room, I will be running."

Presumably it will be for re-election to the State Senate, although one speaker facetiously remarked Sam would be a good choice to replace Dave O'Neal as Governor James R. Thompson's running mate. State law would prevent such a two-party team, however.

He had reason to be jubilant at the crowd. It was 150 more than had ever been jammed into the huge Meridian Ballroom at SIUE about 1,100, according to master of ceremonies and dinner chairman Nick Maggos.

He also had reason to be pleased at the cross-section of backers who showed up. They included the Republican governor, Thompson, who flew in by helicopter; Senate President Phil Rock, a possible Democratic candidate for governor; Congressman Melvin Price, who flew in from Washington and alluded to being freed to chair the Senate bill; Ronald Reagan's blitz on the tax bill; State Treasurer Jerry Cosentino; and Robert C. Thompson, president of the Illinois AFL-CIO.

This was a crystal (15th) year event for Vadalabene. Some of the ten presenters from various segments of the constituency brought gifts of crystal.

President Earl Lazerson of SIUE enjoyed the prospect that the school's new multi-purpose center, a Vadalabene project for many years, will be occupied in 1983 — was full of praise and thanks for the state senator.

Vadalabene closed his remarks by saying, "In 1983, I expect to be inviting you to a gala affair at the great new multi-purpose center."

John Ubaldi, Collinsville, secretary-treasurer of the Carpenters District Council of Madison County, reciting a list of Vadalabene-pushed projects topped by the $11.2 million university building, said, "It will be a shame if that building isn't named for you. I don't mind saying so."

Some quotes:

Senate President Rock (D-Oak Park): "Sam was my bodyguard." Many other speakers threw quips at Vadalabene's highly publicized flusterings on the Senate floor.

Gov. Thompson: "I can think of few in my four years in Springfield who have stood so proudly, fiercely, beside me when I was right and marched right in and told me flat out when I was wrong. I have been on this campus a number of times pouring concrete for Sam; as long as the money and the concrete hold out, we're going to keep pouring down here."

Thompson said, "I wish he would retire. I wish he would leave the legislature and join the Thompson administration, moving from the second floor to the third floor."

"His No. 1 priority, education, is the No. 1 priority of the Thompson administration."

"He consistently, persistently recommends people for positions in state government. He frequently, persistently recommends the very best. I've never turned him down."

Finally, referring as others did to "Senator Sam's" hobby of gardening, the governor said he had lunch Saturday to say goodbye to Lieutenant Governor Dave O'Neal. "The very first course was the famous Senator Sam beef-steak tomatoes."

Cong. Price: "The worst thing that ever happened to this country was air-conditioning of the Capitol. Before air-conditioning, we adjourned by July 4th."

Treasurer Cosentino: "I want to tell you now, Sam, the till is empty."

Gibson, a former Granite Cityan now president of the state AFL-CIO: "I went to Mexico for ten days. I thought we ought to go there before they all come up here." He said, "Sam is known for his ability to work much harder than most state senators."

Robert Walters, Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association manager, a former Republican state legislator: "Sam has an open door policy with us. It revolves sometimes, but it's always open."

Pete Simpson, head of Vadalabene's legislative staff, presenting a picture of a fiercer tiger to his boss: "This is how you constantly inspire us."

Park budget $897,352

The Granite City Park Board of Commissioners approve an appropriation and ordinance for the 1981-82 fiscal year of $897,352, an increase of $19,630 over the 1980-81 budget of $877,722.

In action last week during a recessed meeting from the July 22 regular meeting, the board approved the ordinance establishing a working budget for the park district, complying with state law, which mandates such action on or before the July 31 deadline.

The largest increase in any one category was $78,891 in the allocation for recreation purposes, which was significantly offset by a reduction in the allocation for the recreation program and facilities of $66,195.

A considerable increase in the tort liability insurance has been added in this category for the 1981-82 year.

A most decrease of $40,000 in the contributions to the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund and a slight increase of $300 in the audit expense allocation reflect the only other changes.

A comparison of the budget summary — listing this year's allocations, last year's figures in parentheses and their differences — follows:

Corporate purposes — $518,375, ($439,484), up $78,891; Recreation program and facilities — $313,385, ($379,588), down $66,195; Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund — $40,500, ($41,000), down $500; Tort liability insurance — $21,839, ($14,800), up $7,039; and Audit expenses — $3,150, ($2,200), up $950.

In other business during the recessed meeting, the board was addressed by a representative of the Banker's Life Insurance Co. He gave a run down of costs for similar coverage to that of the district's present policy with Prudential Life.

The board is considering changing insurance companies since it was informed that the premium for the coming year is to be nearly doubled.

During the July 22 meeting of the board, Harold Brown, director of parks and recreation, was directed to inquire about the increase with some commissioners thought to be exorbitant.

'Denmark at a Glance' to be shown at meeting

"Denmark at a Glance" will be the topic under consideration at the regular meeting of the women's group within the International Hospitality Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville when it meets Thursday, Aug. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Federal Savings and Loan in Edwardsville.

Elizabeth Bettman, secretary in the Office of International Education at the University, will be the speaker. A native of Denmark, she will discuss the country's people, culture, form of government, language and products.

Dr. Barbara Teters, who recently assumed her duties as vice president and provost at SIUE, will be an honored guest at the occasion.

The International Hospitality Program is made up of more than 100 families within the communities served by SIUE who act as a hospitality committee for foreign students attending the University. The women's organization was formed in the mid-seventies for the purpose of cultural sharing. Since its initiation, the organization has hosted presentations representing such varied countries as Morocco, India, Iran, Germany, Scotland, Ethiopia, Iceland, and China.

The meeting is free and open to the public. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Janet Keller at 692-4530.

Continue work on 45 coke ovens

Major reconstruction of Granite City Steel's "B" coke oven battery is continuing.

The rebuilt battery will improve the plant's dependability of coke supply and control of air quality, a spokesman said.

Designed as a twin of the rebuilt "A" battery, "B" battery will contain 45 ovens. Completion is scheduled by mid-1982.

"The rebuilt battery will include the latest technology for reducing emissions," said Dr. John Manda, vice-president of environmental control.

A variance for operation of "A" battery during the rebuild was granted in late June by the Illinois Pollution Control Board.

This was necessary because the physical layout of the coke oven facility prevents use of a pollution control coke receiving car at times on the "A" battery when construction is in progress on "B" he added, commenting:

"The state's expeditious handling of our variance request permitted this modernization project to proceed."

Vice-president of engineering, Fred Steinkuehler said the multi-million-dollar project will employ about 340 construction workers at its peak.

Special emission-control features will include a dual-collecting main to help control and reduce emissions during the charging of coal into the top of the ovens.

New doors of the latest design and newly constructed brick ovens will also provide a tighter seal against escaping gases.

In addition, a new door machine will be installed. Improvements also will be made in the pusher machine, which will be completely rebuilt to include new pollution-control equipment.

The project includes improvements to the coke ovens' by-products area, here portions of the chemicals produced in coking are collected and separated.

The addition of an ammonia still, replacement of a tar precipitator, and work on piping in the by-products area remain to be completed.

"B" battery was originally constructed in 1943, and extensively improved in 1973.

General contractor for the reconstruction is the Serstel Corp., a division of Pennsylvania Engineering Corp. Engineering design is by McKee-Otto.

Subcontractors include M. H. Wolfe for foundation work; H. W. Kroeger for structural steel; Guarantee Electric for electrical work; Star Engineering for piping; Granite Sheet Metal for sheet metal work, and Hartman-Walsh for painting.

SAVINGS BOND SALES OVER $1.5 MILLION United States Savings Bond sales series EE and HH for the month of June were $245,521, according to Henry D. Karandjeff county chairman for sales.

With the June figures the total this calendar year for Madison county sales is $1,581,623.

Chairman Karandjeff is the oldest continuing county chairman of the U. S. Savings Bond division in the country, having begun on Pearl Harbor Day, Dec. 7, 1941.

Officials see progress at area college

The top two officials issued statements last week after Dr. Bruce R. Wissore was selected as president of Belleville Area College in a 4-2 vote.

Dr. Wissore had served as acting president of the college since Dr. William Keel resigned as president a year ago.

The new president released the following statement in response to his appointment:

"During the 1980-81 year, the college has experienced a change of direction which has resulted in a strong, positive financial condition.

"The need for a tax increase has been significantly delayed.

"As these things have been done, the welfare of our students as measured by enrollment figures, dropout rate and grade-point average have improved.

"A three-year plan to reduce expenses by $1 million was developed, and after one year the college is ahead of schedule.

"The goals which the board has adopted for the college for the coming year indicate more of the same: increased financial accountability, improved long-range financial stability, increased awareness by all college staff members of the goals of the college and the goals of their area, and increased participation in college activities.

"These things are to be done without decreasing quality in any way.

"It is my intention to work with the board, administrative staff and faculty who have made this year's results a reality.

"It is my intention to allow those who have not participated to become an important and integral part of college operations.

"Belleville Area College is a great place to work. District 52 has provided its educators with excellent resources.

"I am looking forward to cooperation by all parties to continue to move BAC toward its goals," Dr. Wissore concluded.

Belleville Area College Board of Trustees Chairman Robert Dintelmann made the following statement at the special board meeting:

"We have elected Dr. Bruce R. Wissore as the new president of Belleville Area College.

"We have done so because we believe the decision is in the best interest of the total education system of the college and the community it serves. As trustees, that is our major responsibility.

"Last March, we appointed a search committee to aid the board in its selection process. Ninety-three applications were received and the search committee recommended the top seven candidates to the board.

"The board reviewed the final seven applicants and personally interviewed the top four.

"All things considered, it is our judgment that Dr. Wissore is the best man for the job. He will help us meet our primary obligation to provide the best possible community college.

"Now, he and we and the entire staff and community can get on with the task of educating the thousands of

SIMAPC funds hit by veto

Theodore Mikesell, executive director of Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission (SIMAPC), says the Commission will be doubly hurt by loss of about $92,000, the total amount of the state grant approved by the General Assembly but vetoed by Gov. Jim Thompson.

Thompson also vetoed grants to East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, and the Madison and St. Clair County Economic Opportunity Commissions.

Mikesell said the SIMAPC budget request was already cut to 80 percent of the previous year when submitted. Loss of the state money will also "cripple federal money" because it is part of the matching funds to get federal grants.

"The federal money has been substantially reduced anyway," he said. "Housing and Urban Development is getting 18 or 19 percent less than last year, and the Department of Commerce funding has been made only for a half year instead of the full year."

"There's a whole big question as to how much federal money there will be."

SIMAPC derives a lot of its budget from direct payments from municipalities for specific projects. "Local government money is also in question because of the federal situations," Mikesell said. Asked how much of his budget was affected, Mikesell said "if you count the federal projects which carry over and run to October, you're talking 10 to 12 percent. Taking them out, we're talking about 20 to 21 percent."

He commented philosophically, "In this transition period, I don't think everybody knows where we're going. Some things that came with federal grants included federal priorities. In terms of local government, some of the things in federal grants won't be missed. You had to do them to access the money that was of great value."

The Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission has been in the process of reducing some operations in anticipation of budget cuts.

Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission will lose its $26,145 state grant. St. Clair County Economic Commission will lose its $34,521.

CETA (The Comprehensive Employment and Training Act) put out a thick sheaf of news releases over the weekend to dispel the belief that it is dead. Its public service employment segment has been completely eliminated by President Ronald Reagan.

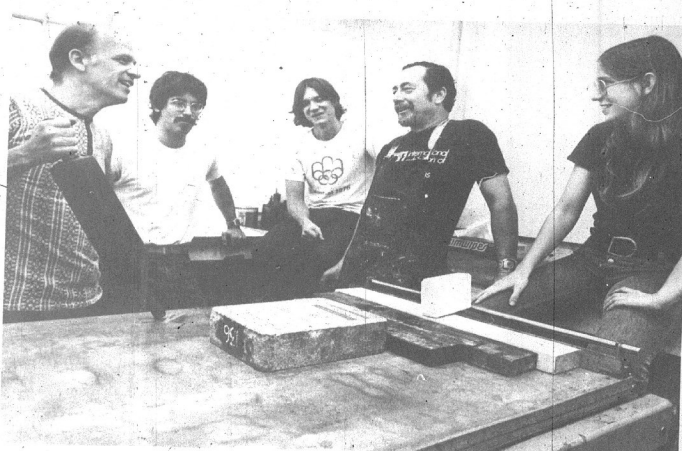

However, its private training which involved 53,425 economically disadvantaged people enrolled $3,425 in fiscal 1980, of whom 21,793 were still training at the end of the year and 10,725 found jobs.

Governor Thompson cut about $196 million and 500 state jobs from the budget. He cut $5.9 million from the Department of Mental Health. That cut about 320 jobs. He cut 170 more jobs from corrections, revenue, and child care agencies.

He cut about $172 million from education — $34 million from college and universities and $138 million from public elementary and high schools.

He cut $183 million from pension funds — not from pensions but from progress toward full funding. State Comptroller Roland Burris issued a survey showing the pension funds progressing in their move toward full $18 billion funding.

Thompson eliminated 100 different positions. The legislature had added to the Department of Transportation.

May resolve differences over street maintenance

By MARK RESMANN
Nameoki Township officials expressed optimism last week in their plans to "iron out" differences with the Granite City street department and the Chouteau Township highway department.

The differences occur in areas where city residents live on one side of the street and township residents live on the other. The city and the township are trying to establish who is responsible for maintenance in these areas.

Morrison Road is the main area where both Nameoki and Chouteau have maintenance responsibilities. Drainage problems have plagued the area and both townships want to decide who is to keep what culverts clear.

Trustee Helen Hawkins said she, trustee Joe Garcia, and a foreman for the highway district met last week with an official from the Granite City street department. She said they discussed areas where both city and township maintenance occur.

"With all the annexation going on, it's hard to tell just what belongs to the city and what belongs to the township," she said.

Hawkins said many meetings residents come to something to be done. Many times, it's not the township's responsibility, she added. She said another meeting planned for yesterday morning would allow Nameoki and Chouteau townships to discuss similar problems.

"I've worked with officials from Granite City and Chouteau Township before, they have the best interests of all in mind," she told The Press-Recorder after the meeting.

Hawkins said it will take the cooperation of all three departments to solve the problems in each of their jurisdictions. "I have a great deal of respect for Lionel Portell (Granite City street superintendent) and Bud Eberhardt (Chouteau Township highway commissioner). I'm confident they will work with our high way commissioner, Frank Mehele, to achieve positive results," she said.

"One thing is for sure, we all have to work together," she added.

In other business the board: —Approved the issuance of $40,000 in tax anticipation warrants for the road district. Briggs said the board would try to "hold out" selling the bonds as long as possible. Briggs said the board approved the warrants because the funds from this year's taxes weren't expected until November.

Hawkins said the board should start working on a "cure" for the warrants. "If we don't start looking for a way to avoid issuing the warrants, we'll be doing the same thing next year," she said.

—Approved the transfer of $800 from the office equipment fund to the newly reformed Nameoki Volunteer Police unit. The funds will be used to purchase a police radio and provide fuel for the car. Briggs said the service could start within a week.

New chief of lottery

Governor James R. Thompson last week named Michael J. Jones, 32, a former Chicago radio marketing executive and current lottery deputy superintendent, to head the Illinois State Lottery. He succeeds Richard W. Carlson as resigning to work in other areas of state government.

Senate confirmation is required for the position. The salary is $39,000.

Thompson said, "Under Rick Carlson's direction, the lottery has nearly doubled its annual sales. When he took over in 1977, it had just completed a $110.5 million year in sales. This past year, the lottery brought in $214.9 million, with net revenue to the state of $88.3 million."

"It was also under Carlson's direction that the new daily game was implemented. This highly successful venture is now bringing in an average of $4 million a week."

The state lottery was created in Illinois on July 30, 1974. Since that time, it has provided more than $372 million for the state treasury.

Marissa takes title in 'warmup'

By JEFF WILSON
for the Press-Record

MARISSA — "If it puts a damper on the game knowing it's not going to hurt you if you lose." The words of Tri-City Triplets manager Eldon Warfield after his team lost the District 22 American Legion championship game Saturday to Marissa Legion Post 172, were the biggest consolation of the evening for the losers.

The game boiled down to a nine-inning contest for the District 22 championship and a trophy. Before the contest began, the two teams knew they would face each other Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. in Marissa in the Fifth Division tournament, and that the only thing at stake was a trophy and the championship.

Also before the game, Warfield said the team wouldn't show everything it had because Thursday was more important. "We weren't holding back," Warfield said after the game. "It just wasn't here."

Indeed the pitching and hitting wasn't there for the Triplets as Marissa's Kevin Pour raised his record to 10-0 and pitched five innings as he struck out ten. It was also Pour's two-run homer in the first that put Marissa on top to stay.

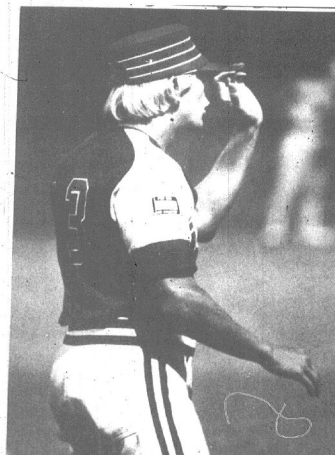

CALLING SIGNALS. Tri-City American Legion Manager Eldon Warfield gives signals Saturday night in his team's 10-6 loss to Marissa in the District 22 championship game at Marissa. Since Marissa is hosting the DePew reached on an error by the second baseman, Joe Schmelke singled and drove in Daily. Walks to Steve Doly and George Jarvis loaded the bases for Tri-

City. That knocked out pitcher John Wahlig and brought in Rich Hargis.

After another run scored, a two-out double by Dan Patterson drove in two more making the score 10-6. Bob Ford, the ninth man to bat in the inning, then hit one weakly to the pitcher to end the game.

"We accomplished a few things," Warfield said. "I know I can go to Bob Ford to pitch now." Kevin Cripps who was to be the starting pitcher Saturday couldn't make the game.

"We weren't concentrating at the plate. It wouldn't have bothered me if they said we wouldn't play," Warfield added. His thoughts are now toward Thursday's match.

"I have no idea who'll go (pitch)," he said not wishing to tip his hand. Tri-City was held to seven hits by the Marissa staff. Dan Patterson was three for five with two doubles and two RBIs. Joe Schmelke was two for four with two singles and one RBI.

Mark Schulte was three for four for Marissa with a triple, homerun and three RBIs. Kevin Pour was the other leading hitter for Marissa with a one, two, game, a homerun and four RBIs.

Rail relocation plan okayed

Governor James R. Thompson announced Friday that two major hurdles for the Metro Area Rail Gateway Enterprise (MARGE) project have been cleared.

The Federal Railroad Administration has approved the project's draft environmental study, and Congressional conferees have listed the MARGE program as one of the nation's highest priority rail projects.

Goal of the rail yard changes is to speed the shipment of freight to and through this community and region. Thompson said the state has been notified by Federal Railroad Administrator Robert W. Blanchette of the approval of the draft environmental impact statement (EIS).

Federal funding is dependent on approval of the final EIS and subsequent approval of the construction plans. The federal government has required an in-depth study of the social, economic and environmental impact of the proposed $500 million rail yard restructuring.

"An equally important action," Thompson said, was that of the members of Congress who are reconciling the federal budget — reaffirming support for the $110 million in preference share financing for rail rehabilitation work.

"The conferees also designated the MARGE work as a priority project for funding."

"The Congressional action was a key step, but an appropriation by Congress is still required, as well as approval by the Reagan administration."

Senators Charles Percy and Alan Dixon and Congressmen Edward Madigan and Melvin Price, as well as Missouri Senators Thomas Eagleton and John Danforth and Congressman Robert Young, have played an important role in preserving the funds vital for rail rehabilitation.

"This has been a cooperative effort by officials from both Illinois and Missouri, the 16 railroads comprising the private sector, and the state and federal government."

"Prior to this effort, the consolidation of rail yards had been stalled for a decade. But now the project is moving. The restructuring and consolidation of rail yards in this metropolitan area will play a major role in improving rail freight operations and will free up significant amounts of prime riverfront land for development," the governor commented.

"The rail yard improvements will once again restore the St. Louis gateway as one of the pre-eminent rail facilities in the nation. That means jobs and an improved economic climate."

"The riverfront land freed through consolidation of yards will allow communities to restore and enhance the Illinois side of the Mississippi River," Thompson said.

Approval of the draft EIS allows the project to go to a public hearing for development of the final statement.

This phase is expected to require no more than six months. Once this work is completed and approved, application can be made for funding the first phases of construction.

The restructuring is to be financed through a mixture of federal preference shares and other public and private financing yet to be determined.

Federal preference shares are, in effect, a low-cost loan made by the U.S. Government, financed by the railroads' sale of preferred stock to the government.

The railroads then redeem the shares during the next 30 years.

Describing it as a massive project to relocate and modernize the St. Louis area's rail facilities, Sen. Danforth said it is "a step closer to reality" because of the funding action by Senate and House budget conferees.

Under the budget agreement, he said, the Department of Transportation program regarded as a key to the relocation will be funded at $110 million for the 1982 fiscal year, a level recommended by the president and approved by the Senate.

Under the House version of the budget, only $6.5 million was recommended for the redeemable preference share provision of the Rail Revitalization and Regulatory Reform Act of 1976.

The House funding level would have made the section of law useless to organizers of the relocation project, Sen. Danforth noted.

The rail yard project would commit an estimated $460 million in private and public funds to a multi-year construction program aimed at cutting transit time through the metropolitan area's switching facilities by 37 percent.

The relocation has been planned by the Metro Area Rail Gateway Enterprise, an arm of the Illinois Transportation Department that was formed to coordinate the interests of 16 affected railroads, state and local governments, shippers and consumers.

The MARGE plan calls for expansion and modernization of present yards at Madison and Centerville, and construction of a new yard near National City.

"Rail connections known as the St. Louis gateway constitute one of the worst bottlenecks in the national transportation system," Sen. Danforth said.

"The MARGE project has been long in planning and will be years in execution. But the dividends for this region and for national transportation promise to be great."

"I am hopeful the redeemable preference share will be an important financing tool for the project, and am happy with the conference decision to fund the program at the level sought by the administration and the Senate."

NEWSPAPER WORK. Among participants in Southern Illinois University at Carbondale's summer newspaper workshop were Granite City High School students (from left) Michael Moore, 2616 W. 26th St., Mark Smith, 2921 Wayne Ave., and Robin Campion, 2031 Delmar Ave. They were among students from across Illinois who attended the week-long workshop, which ended July 17. The workshop is sponsored by the SIUC School of Journalism and directed by associate professor W. Manion Rice.

ACTING DIRECTOR OF ENVIRONMENT AGENCY
Governor James R. Thompson appointed Delbert D. Haschemeyer on Thursday as acting director of the Illinois Environment Protection Agency. Haschemeyer, 39, has been deputy director since July 1979.

He replaces EPA Director Michael Maury, whose resignation became effective Thursday. A search for a permanent director is under way.

Zoning for duplexes on Yale Drive studied

A request for rezoning for duplexes in the 3200 block of Yale Drive is among the requests to be considered by Granite City's planning and zoning bodies during meetings next week.

The city's Board of Appeals is to meet at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 12, and the Plan Commission is to meet at 1:15 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 13. Both meetings are to be held on the top floor of city hall.

The request for the Yale Drive duplexes is to be considered at next Thursday's (Aug. 13) meeting when the Plan Commission hears from the petitioner, Otis Gomell, asking for R-4 (two-family) zoning rather than the current R-2 (single-family) zoning for 3220, 3224, 3228 and 3232 Yale Drive.

Emmett J. Williams also is requesting R-4 zoning, rather than the current R-3 (single-family) for a duplex at 2032 Bryan Ave.

The Plan Commission also is to consider a request by Shirley Pierce for C-1 commercial zoning at 1937 Benton St., to operate a beauty shop. The property currently is zoned R-5 (multi-family).

Five requests are to be considered next Wednesday (Aug. 12) by the Board of Appeals. Jim Henson, 2817 Maryville Road, Bob Stinson, 4008 North St., and Philip Edwards, 1630 Spring Ave., are requesting permission to construct garages or garage additions closer to their property lines than called for in the zoning code. Lawrence Jares, 2114 Clark Ave., wishes to construct a carport four feet from the side property line of his home and Jerome Johnson, 2426 Lincoln Ave., is seeking a variance to construct a lean-to next to his home's side property line.

AREA LEHIGH PICNIC
The Lehigh University Club has scheduled its annual summer picnic and its freshman and undergraduate sendoff for Sunday, Aug. 9, at Tilles Park, Lafayette and McKnight roads. Beginning at 1 p.m., the picnic is for area Lehigh alumni, current undergraduates, and those who will enroll at the university later in August as members of the class of 1985, along with their parents.

School registration to start in Venice

Registration for Venice High School students begins Thursday, Aug. 6, from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. in the high school office. It was announced this week by Principal John C. Rush.

Venice pupils will return to classes Tuesday, Aug. 25. Verification of residency in the Venice School District is required of any student enrolling for the first time, Rush stated.

Proof of custody also is required if the student does not live with his parent or a legal guardian.

All new students and those entering the 5th and 9th grades must have physical and dental examinations by the opening day of school, the principal stressed.

It is also required that immunization records for all students be presented by the first day of school. Forms for this purpose are available at the high school office.

The elementary school office will re-open Monday, Aug. 10. Parents who are new to the district may enroll their children Wednesday through Friday, Aug. 12 to Aug. 14, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must be at least 5 years old on or before

Dec. 31. To enter first grade, a child must be 6 years old on or before Dec. 31.

Rush said all students new to the district should be enrolled as soon as possible so the schools can make necessary preparations for the fall semester.

ADDED FUNDING FOR LAMBERT EXPANSION
U.S. Senator Jack Danforth (R-Mo.) said last week that Senate budget conferees have accepted language that clears the way for quick action by Lambert International Airport to secure additional federal assistance for its facilities expansion program.

Senator Nancy Kassebaum (R-Kan.), chairman of the Aviation Subcommittee, informed him that Senate conferees accepted a House provision pushed through the lower chamber after the bill carrying the Lambert provision stalled in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The elementary school office will re-open Monday, Aug. 10. Parents who are new to the district may enroll their children Wednesday through Friday, Aug. 12 to Aug. 14, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must be at least 5 years old on or before

Dec. 31. To enter first grade, a child must be 6 years old on or before Dec. 31.

Rush said all students new to the district should be enrolled as soon as possible so the schools can make necessary preparations for the fall semester.

AN OPEN LETTER

To the People of the Quad-Cities:

I have practiced in Granite City with honor and integrity for 30 years. In that time I have cared for many families, including parents, children and children's children. I have enjoyed your trust and am grateful for your confidence.

I always offered the best I could in health care, in the best possible surroundings.

If I felt I could not help someone, I sought the care they needed from other health professionals. The welfare of the individual was always my primary concern.

In February 1981 I became aware of a situation I felt would compromise the things I believed in and I left the Granite City office.

When the people that put their trust in me know the facts they will know I could do nothing less.

I could only help correct the situation by leaving.

Big pay boosts for construction workers in area

Substantial wage raises are scheduled for local construction workers. The Southern Illinois Builders Association has announced ratification of three-year agreements with the Carpenters District Council of Madison County and vicinity and the Twelve Counties Southwestern Illinois Laborers District Council. Both agreements are to become effective on Aug. 1, 1981, and continue through July 31, 1984.

The SIBA agreement with the Laborers Council covers 5,000 construction laborers in a 12-county area and applies to all types of construction. The agreement provides for a total increase of $3.75 plus a one and one-half cent per hour training fund contribution.

The initial increase will be $1.25, with similar increases on Aug. 1, 1982, and Aug. 1, 1983.

The new combined wage and fringe benefit package for the Laborers will be $14.95 an hour.

On July 25, the Madison District Council of Carpenters, with 1,500 membership, ratified a new three-year pact that provides for an initial increase of $1. The total settlement is $4.50 through July 31, 1984.

Negotiated wage and fringe increments are: $1 on Aug. 1, 1981, 70 cents on Jan. 1, 1982, 80 cents on Aug. 1, 1982, 50 cents on Feb. 1, 1983, and $1.50 on Aug. 1, 1983.

The most significant alteration in the working conditions provides for a change in the overtime premium from double time to time and one-half for overtime work performed Monday through Saturday.

Carpenters' hourly rate on Aug. 1 will be $14.35 plus 75 cents welfare and $1.05 pension, totaling $16.15 per hour.

The carpenters also negotiated and ratified a three-year residential agreement with SIBA that provides for total wage and fringe increases of $1.85 per hour. This agreement also is effective through July 1984.

Last week, the Tri Counties District Council of Carpenters reached a tentative agreement with SIBA on a new three-year agreement, submitted to the union membership July 28 with a recommendation for approval.

McKinley bridge in good condition

The Venice City Council received a copy of the 1981 annual inspection of the McKinley Toll Bridge at their meeting last week.

The in-depth field inspection is made by Hardesty and Hanover Consulting Engineers of New York City.

The inspection was made in April.

It noted that the bridge is in an acceptable state of repair and that the basic condition is good.

The summary noted "Traffic on the bridge is handled in an expeditious manner."

The report further commented that the McKinley Toll Bridge is operated in conformity with the requirements of Bond Ordinance and that it is receiving "prudent and intelligent management."

Thomas Fields is the bridge manager.

The report suggested periodic inspection and maintenance work listed for safety and better service.

It also recommended increasing property damage coverage to $25 million.

Firemen to sell barbecue and Ethnic day tickets

Madison Volunteer Fire Department will operate a stand on the corner of Third Street and Madison Avenue, Madison, Friday, and Saturday.

The firemen will sell barbecue pork steaks and shish kebab.

Money saving advance ticket sales for the carnival rides at the Aug. 21, 22, and 23 Ethnic Days also will be available.

Advance tickets are five for $2, a savings of 10 cents on each ticket.

Proceeds will help the Madison firemen purchase radio dispatching equipment.

Secretaries open season

A dinner meeting to kick off a new membership drive and open the season for 1981-82 meetings of the Tri City Chapter of Professional Secretaries International.

O'Neal duties are reassigned

With David O'Neal stepping down as lieutenant governor Friday and then leaving for Europe on a business trip for his new employer, a suburban Chicago aircraft firm, Governor James R. Thompson issued an executive order reassigning the functions of the lieutenant governor's office to the governor's staff.

The governor will assume responsibility for all senior citizen and coal-related programs operated by O'Neal.

David Kenney, Conservation Department director, will head the Abandoned Mined Lands Reclamation Council and Frank Beal, Natural Resources Institute director, will lead the Energy Advisory Council.

The office of lieutenant governor will remain vacant until the end of the term in 1982.

Thompson signed legislation Friday clarifying succession to the office of governor in case of a vacancy.

Following the lieutenant governor, the line of succession lists the elected attorney general and the elected secretary of state (both of those offices are now filled by appointees), the elected state comptroller, the Senate president and the House speaker.
